WE NOMINATE

Lawrance Roger Thompson, an able and highly articulate teacher-scholar, a literary chronicler of the front rank, and official biographer of the late beloved Robert Frost, who in nearly three decades as a Princetonian has made major contributions to this community's now science-haunted literary traditions. In a period when the scientists appear to be out-gunning the humanists, and the latter seem satisfied to remain in the vales of self-content with only occasional yelps about the failures of others to bridge the gap between "The Two Cultures," the about-to-be-59 Thompson is as stimulating to his readers and listeners as are the "literary giants" he interprets for others.

Since 1936 the New Hampshire-born Thompson, recently designated a McCosh Faculty Fellow for 1965-66, the highest honor Princeton University bestows in the humanities and social sciences, has been gathering materials for a biography of Frost, an undertaking warmly endorsed by the poet but with the stipulation that his official biography should not be published during his lifetime. Over the next quarter-century, the two maintained close relationships, including trips together to Europe and the Near East, and Thompson produced no less than six works as peripheral to his major biographical project, the first volume of which is now scheduled for publication this spring.

A member of the University since 1937, when he succeeded the late George Mann Peck as Curator of the Library's Special Collections of Rare Books and Manuscripts, Thompson has made a practice of turning out distinguished and thoroughly readable works, ranging from a biography of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow to "probably the most original and controversial study of Melville ever published," "Melville's Quarrel with God". The latter prompted "The New York Times" to comment: "There will be controversy in which the large amount of new material here presented, the brilliance of many of the analyses, the sublety and soundness of many of the perceptions will be ignored as the brickbats really fly."

It was in 1938, a decade after he had been graduated from Wesleyan University and the year he received his doctorate from Columbia, that Thompson "scored" with "Young Longfellow," the first realistic account of the New England poet's formative years. In carrying forward research for this analysis, that in one critic's opinion provided the "most interesting and stimulating reading of the year", the author unearthed proof of Longfellow's first appearance in book-form by using ultra-violet light to demonstrate that a poem printed anonymously, after it had been passed over in an 1824 prize competition, had come from Longfellow's pen.

Even during World War II, while on duty with the Eastern Sea Frontier and rising to the rank of lieutenant commander, Thompson, a former member of the Princeton Township Board of Education, continued to write. With official authorization, he hammered out "The Navy Hunts The CGR 3070," an absorbing and meticulously documented narrative of how the ill-fated yawl, Zaida, on submarine picket patrol off Long Island in 1942, managed to weather a hurricane and finally to limp into port 600 miles down the Atlantic Coast, some 2 weeks later, after all hope for its safety had been abandoned. This account was living proof that "Hooligan's Navy" "could take it and come through."

For personifying the kind of teaching described by a former student as "the most creative, disturbing and challenging a student can encounter": for ever seeking to sweep the dust away in American literature; for his devotion to the "fascinating, paradoxical and deviously complex character which was Robert Frost"; he is our nominee as

TAXES GO LOWER

For Township Taxpayers. Township taxpayers heard the happy news this week that, although the municipal purposes budget is slightly higher (6.85%) than last year, the total tax rate is $5.88 — down by about 9 cents — and the individual home-owner's tax will be about $1 less for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Lower school and county rates account for the reduction, and the owner of a $30,000 Township house who paid $912 in 1964 taxes, will pay $882 in 1965.

This year, all Mercer County municipalities, including Princeton Borough and Township, must assess real property at 50% of true value. For Borough taxpayers, the news was almost as good: following introduction of the budget Tuesday night, Mayor Patterson forecast little or no change in the current rate. See below).

The municipal budget, introduced Tuesday night at a special meeting of Township Committee, is $1,227,806.47, which is $78,762.97 more than last year. The amount to be raised by taxation is $638,333.47, or $72,305.47 more than last year. The rest of the budget comes from miscellaneous revenues, an appropriated surplus of $125,000 an expected $125,000 from delinquent taxes.)

Growth Factors. The biggest increase in the budget—$57,126.10—is "operating expenses" a category which includes salary increases of about 4% for all Township employees, the salaries of two additional police officers and a third officer to be hired later in the year, the new full-time recreation director and his secretary and an additional full-time employee who will divide his time between the road department and maintenance of parks and playgrounds.

The growth of the Township is reflected in a $28,915 increase in debt service, but capital improvements expenditures are down by $12,800 because this year's bill for the new public library and The Great Road sewer were already provided for in 1964.

Committee rejected a last-minute request from the Joint Recreation Board for an additional $250,000 toward a swimming pool. The Board had decided unanimously to make the request in executive session after Monday night's public meeting. (See "Topics of the Town.")

"This comes at a most inappropriate time," said Mayor Carl C. Schafer after the letter had been read.

Committeeman John O. Green, who holds the recreation portfolio, said he was puzzled by the Board action. He remarked on the $200,000 already earmarked for the north—or "pool"—side of Community Park in the Township's capital budget, and reminded Committee that this sum was already $42,000 more than the original Recreation Board stipulation of 150,000.

Both he and Committeeman William L. Wilson commented on the fact that the Township could go as high as $300,000 toward a pool this year because of a surplus "cushion," but Mr. Green repeated that engineering difficulties were still in the way of a 1965 pool.

"It is an extremely tight budget with absolutely no fat on it," commented Township administrator Joseph R. Nini. Underlying it is a rateable base of $120,294,034, an increase of $0,227,610 over last year. (At the 50% assessment figure of course, the 1965 rateable figure is $60,147,017.)

Public hearing on the budget will be held in the auditorium of Valley Road School at 8 p.m. Monday, March 15.

BOROUGH: NO CHANGE

Tax Rate "About the Same." Borough Council, working nearly up to the last moment, introduced the 1965 budget at Tuesday night's meeting.

The municipality plans to raise $503,280 by taxation—an increase of more than $27,000 over last year—and in overall revenue will raise $1,210,630, nearly $34,000 more than 1964.

The combined tax rate for the Borough, its schools and the county will be between $4.11 and $4.18 for each $100 in property values.

and the change in the assessment rate from 33 to 50%. Mayor Henry S. Patterson said, the tax rate is "about the same as last year." After presenting the figures, Council approved a motion calling for a public hearing to consider the budget on Tuesday, March 9.

In a related financial matter, Mayor Patterson outlined the proposed expenditure by the Borough and Township on the Community Park recreation project in general and the project's swimming pool in particular. The Borough, which has a 40% stake in financing the recreation area, has included $130,000 in its 1965 budget for the project.

Two-thirds of the amount will be used for the pool and the remainder will finance various other aspects of the recreational facilities. Including funds in the 1964 budget, the Borough and Township have set aside $542,000 for the project.

In response to questions primarily from Minot C. Morgan, Mayor Paterson explained that a precise breakdown of figures for the various aspects of the project is not yet available. Similarly, the Mayor said, the expected dates for starting and completing the pool are unknown.

But, Mr. Patterson added, the Borough has taken every precaution in setting aside funds in its latest budget to insure that every foreseeable problem can be met. Councilman Joseph R. Strayer concurred in noting that "we've made preparation for any conceivable development."

More Washington Road Traffic?

The Suburban Transit Bus Corporation, which desires to expand its service in the Trenton-Princeton-New Brunswick area, introduced a proposed calling for the use of Washington Road as a bus route. The company would like to extend its Princeton - New Brunswick service to Industrial Highstown, and to do so, according to the company's representative, Sidney Kuchin, would require the use of Washington Road.

Mayor Patterson displayed obvious reluctance to approve the bus company's wish. He noted that the road has long been a headache because of the amount of traffic of both vehicles and Princeton University students and because of the disturbance the former cause to University faculty members whose offices are located in buildings adjacent to Nassau Street.

He expressed the wish however, that the bus company's plan may provide an incentive for the State Highway Department to give further consideration to the proposed Route 206 by-pass which officials hope would alleviate the Washington Road traffic jam. Suburban Transit also proposes to expand its Princeton-to-Trenton service using both Mercer Street and Route 206 South.

The proposals, Mr. Patterson said, will be given further consideration by the Borough Traffic Safety Committee. The committee will meet with representatives of Suburban Transit to examine the proposals. The bus company requires permission of the Borough to carry out its expansion plans.

In other business, Council passed on first reading two ordinances relating to the proposed Borough-Township Public Library. The first called for a bond issue of $420,000 to finance the Borough's share of the library cost and the second called for an amendment to the joint library agreement so that the interest and amortization become "operating expense" and can then be apportioned on 40-60 percent basis.

Both measures will be considered at the March 9 meeting of Council. The public will be given the opportunity to voice their thoughts on the matter before final action is taken.

Mayor Patterson disclosed that he plans to attend a conference on February 25 in Trenton to consider the possibility of combining sewerage facilities with other municipalities in the Stony Brook-Millstone area. The plan, he said, may permit one plant to replace many, providing more efficient sewerage for all concerned.

LEADERS CHOSEN

By North Lawrence Citizens.

Dudley Woodbridge has been elected president of the North Lawrence Citizens Association for 1965. The other new officers are William G. Lafourette, first vice-president; Charles Reydel, second vice-president; Donald H. Tyler, treasurer; and George H. Wilson, secretary.

Mr. Woodbridge succeeds Dexter Miller, who has recently been appointed to the Lawrence Township Planning Board. Mr. Woodbridge said in accepting the presidency that the proposed route 1-95 was a principle item to be considered by the organization.

The new president added that the association will attempt to assist the township governing bodies through constructive recommendations submitted informally and at public hearings. Members of the organization reside in an area bounded by Princeton and Hopewell on the north and Franklin Corner Road on the south.

FAHR MEETING PLANNED

For Officer Election.

The Princeton Association For Human Rights will hold its annual membership meeting Monday at 8 in the Witherspoon School auditorium.

New officers will be elected along with members of the executive committee. Reports from various special interest committees will be delivered and there will be a discussion of the organization's plans for the future.

MERGER FAVORED

By School Election Results. Dr. Harvey Rohlberg, outspokenly in favor of Borough Township School merger, won the only contested seat on the Board of Education Tuesday by defeating Fred Klink, 453 to 340. Dr. Rohlberg was elected to an unexpired two-year term.

Mr. Klink had not committed himself on merger, but had said he was waiting to read the forthcoming report of the two school boards before making up his mind.

A total of 795 Borough voters cast the hand-marked ballots, and election results were not tallied until after 11 p.m., more than two hours after the polls had closed.

Three uncontested candidates won the three-year positions with the following votes: Dr. E. Frederick Lashever, 624; Mrs. Paul Strayer, 628 and Thomas Moore, 642. There were two write-in votes for B. Woodhull Davis, retired superintendent of schools, and one each for G. Dennis O'Brien and Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan.

Dr. Laschever's position on merger is that, from an educational point of view, it would undoubtedly be beneficial. He is concerned about the financial and legal problems. Mr. Moore has said that merger would be beneficial, to Township as well as to Borough children. Mrs. Strayer, a Board incumbent now about to begin her second term, is also favorably disposed.

HARROP PROPERTY SALE: "We are near to signing an agreement of sale on the Harrop property," Township Attorney Thomas Cook (right) told the Joint Recreation Commission at Monday's public hearing on a community swimming pool. Examining the site drawings are (from left) Mrs. Simeon Hutter and Robert Sinkler, Commission members, and D. Donald Barr, recreation director. Story in Topics of the Town.

Referendum? "Yes." The present Board has said that it approved the idea of a public referendum on regionalization of the two school districts. The slim 90-vote gap between Dr. Rohlberg and Mr. Klink may foreshadow a close decision when a referendum finally comes before the public.

The budget was passed without difficulty: 568 "yes" to 96 "no" for capital expenses; 572 "yes" and 87 "no" for land and buildings.

Township Votes. In the Township, winners of the three three-year terms are David Brodsky with 794 votes; Mrs. George Fremon, 782 and Leonard Hymerling, 721. Mr. Hymerling will be serving his third term on the Board. The other two three-year contestants were Mrs. Loren Johnston with 452 votes and Harold Mantell with 230.

Laurence Holland with 539 won over George Goldsmith with 452 for the two-year term and Charles Jaffin, uncontested, polled 762 votes for the single one-year term.

The Township budget passed handily: current expenses, 810 "yes" to 110 "no" and capital outlay 789 "yes" to 112 "no."

Voting was by machine in the Township, and 1,088 votes were cast—about 25% of the electorate, a high total for a school election.

ASK $450,000 ANTE

For Community Pool. The Joint Recreation Commission voted Monday to request $450,000 instead of $200,000 for 1965. The Borough would supply 40% and the Township 60%.

The decision was made in executive session following a public meeting at Princeton High School with 43 "frustrated" proponents of a community swimming pool.

Abetting the decision was Attorney Thomas Cook's announcement that negotiations for a parcel of the Harrop property on Cherry Hill Road, adjacent to Township-owned land on Route 206, are "near the point of settlement." The Commission seems to feel that the Harrop land is more suitable for a public pool.

When! Why! Who! Residents, who came loaded for bear, were all fighting time. "Why do you give us this evasive double-talk as to why it (the pool) can't get going?" Robert van de Velde wanted to know.

Nicholas Bartolino asked if the Township engineer: were working on the project now. The answer was yes. John Yost, originally appointed to the Commission urged the Commission to put to use the Clark & Rapuano survey which he presented a year ago at a public meeting on the Community Gardens park project.

Minot C. Morgan asked, What needs do you expect to put to the Borough and Township budgets?" He noted that both budgets for 1965 are pending public hearings.

Ralph Hulit, Commission co-chairman, told the group that $143,000 was being requested for site improvement, $13,000 for studies. The Commission, he said, requested a total of $200,000.

"Nothing for the pool?"

"We can do nothing this year," Mr. Hulit said.

Plan Ahead! It was Sidney Ratner who proposed that the Commission asks for a budget of half a million dollars. "as a safeguard on the money available," so that not only site construction but pool construction be guaranteed.

To this Commissioner Harry Volveider said, "I am just a poor taxpayer, and I am beginning to shudder at the way you are spending the tax dollar."

"I am a taxpayer, too!" Mr. Ratner responded. "It is for you to ask the Borough and Township to ask the people if they will support this. It is not for you to decide!" (Loud applause.) "We challenge you to bring this question to the Borough Council and the Township . . . and bring this to a vote and see where the people stand!"

Mrs. Hazel Stix spoke up. "I thought all this was established. What I am confused about is if the property is found OK in the first three months . . . could you go ahead this spring?"

Mr. Hulit replied that "Mayor Patterson and the Township have said that they will vote the money as we need it."

Sidney Alpert inquired. Enoch Durbin has said that there is $200,000 in the Borough budget, and Mr. Schafer said there is $300,000 in the Township's capital budget. My question, is there something going on that the public is not aware of."

Recreation Plans. The Commission, through its newly-appointed executive director, D. Donald Barr, then outlined recreation plans.

"What's new about these?" Rogers Carrington of Young Life asked. Nicholas Bartolino and others argued that the 14-16 age group is being neglected in Princeton. Lawrence Evans discussed present sports efforts for boys.

Timetable Wanted. Mr. Yost returned the meeting to discussion of the pool. "What some of us were hoping to see is a definite timetable for the pool." He asked that the program not be restricted for a lack of money, adding, "I would go slowly in dismissing the Clark & Rasmuna survey. They worked from a concept of a total park . . ."

Various residents urged the Commission to increase its budget request. "There will be some of us at each hearing," Mr. Morgan asserted, "and we don't want the Council or the Committee to say, 'The Commission didn't ask for any more money.'"

Commission members Hulit, Volweider, Robert Sinkler, Mrs. Simeon Huttner and William Brooks then went into executive session, announcing their concurrence on Tuesday. Absent members were Chairman William Bonthrom, Mrs. William Schoch and John Conroy.

A Time for Warmth

Who wants a Valentine
That's cold?
I like 'em better
When they're bold!

The Weather Man apparently agreed that the Valentine season was no time for cold: last week, a reading of exactly zero was recorded in outlying areas; Monday of this week brought an all-time February heat-wave for the date when the thermometer touched 63 degrees.

The mild spell will continue for another 48 hours, but the weekend will be marked by temperatures of a more seasonal nature. No major precipitation in sight.

TWO ARE FINED

For Traffic Violations. Mrs. Johanna Brenner, 21, 403-A Butler Avenue, was fined $15 by Borough Magistrate Theodore Tams, Jr. Monday for failing to obtain a New Jersey driver's license after establishing residence here. Mrs. Brenner was involved in a traffic accident last week while driving with an Oregon license.

In the Township, Magistrate Glenn B. Miller Jr. fined Mrs. Lucy G. Goldstein, 45, of Belle Mead $15 for passing a stopped school bus.

The Division of Motor Vehicles announced the suspension of the licenses of two Princeton area motorists.

Hilary J. Hawblitz, 22, Lambert House, Princeton Hospital, surrendered her license for 30 days for speeding. John P. Seitz, 18, W. Frank-

News Of The THEATRES

WADE ON STAGE

"But I Prefer the Present!" Interested in the fact that McCarter Theatre will soon be 35 years old, but much more interested in what's going on right now, A. Munroe Wade of 670 Princeton-Kingston Road paused briefly this week to think about that first McCarter Triangle show, 35 years ago on February 20.

Mr. Wade was on stage in the cast the night of February 20, 1930. It was a special performance of the 1929 Triangle Club show, "The Golden Dog" which had a book by Wade, '30, and Joshua Logan, '31.

This year, of course, the February 20 anniversary performance will be Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," which just happens to have been the first non-Triangle play presented in the new McCarter Theatre.

"The Golden Dog" was about the 1759 capture of Quebec by the English. If you can believe it," Mr. Wade begins, "and the second act is laid in the Chateau St. Louis with one of those big Ziegfeld staircases for everybody to parade up and down—you know."

Down the Stairs. "Well, that staircase has had quite a lot of wear and tear, over the Christmas holidays and all. Opening night, Mrs. Thomas McCarter, donor of the theatre, and John G. Hibben, who was president of the University, in the audience, Josh Logan and Alfred Dalrymple began a scene where they walk down the stairs.

"Right in the middle, there was a cracking and splitting sound, and the two of them just sank slowly from view—like somebody sinking through the ice. Pretty soon only their heads were showing, and I tell you, it was the biggest laugh I've ever heard from a McCarter audience, in all the 35 years that came after.

"As they sank from view, Josh turned to Dalrymple and said 'That's the way things go!' and the audience roared again!"

"Backstage, of course, we all thought it was great—'What an ad lib!' everybody said, and Logan was surprised: 'Ad lib, hell!' he answered. 'That was my next line!'"

Mr. Wade recalls another undergraduate, whose name is fortunately lost in the archives. He was "prologue," and he was so scared by the prospect of opening this wonderful, magnificent new theatre that he fortified himself too heavily before curtain-time.

His fellow players gave him cold showers and hot coffee, but without much success, and when he appeared before the curtain, he was still full of the slammers. Mr. Wade recalls that President Hibben spoke over his shoulder to Professor Donald C. Stuart who was skulking behind him, and said, "Dr. Stuart, that young man is intoxicated."

"Dr. Stuart, who was the Triangle director for so many years, could be just with an old lib, too," Mr. Wade says, "and he said to President Hibben, 'Just a bad case of stage fright, that's all.'"

When McCarter celebrates on February 20, Mr. Wade will be the undaunted, now on stage. He appeared in "Much Ado About Nothing" in the repertory Shakespeare season last spring, and has been on both sides of the footlights as a founder of Princeton Community Players.

His current assignment is that of director for the High School production of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," to be given at the school this week-end.

"Of course I'll be in McCarter to celebrate the anniversary," Mr. Wade promises, "but I'm more interested in what's going on right now, than in reminiscing about the past."

THE LEADING LADY: A Munroe Wade had the feminine lead in Triangle's "The Golden Dog" when it opened McCarter Theatre 35 years ago.

TWO DIRECTORS BACK

Porter, Hooks. Stephen Porter and Joseph Hooks will return to Princeton as guest directors for the McCarter theatre spring drama season of five comedies plus "Macbeth."

Mr. Porter's assignments are Aristophanes' "The Birds" and Moliere's "School for Wives." Theatre-goers will recall his association with the APA company that played McCarter during the 1960-61 season, when the Porter "Scapin" and "Right You Are" were received so warmly.

The director returned to Princeton for "The Alchemist" in 1962 and "Caligula" and "Antigone" in the fall of that year. Off Broadway, Mr. Porter has done "The Alchemist," "The Country Wife" and "Le Misanthrope." He is now represented in New York by the Phoenix Theatre's revival of "Man and Superman."

David Hooks first came to Princeton during that APA 1960-61 season, returning as guest director in the spring of 1963. This year, he will be in charge of Pirandello's "As You Desire Me."

On Broadway, Mr. Hooks was in "The Golden Apple" and "Inherit the Wind" and served as Frederic March's understudy in "Gideon." For six years, he was associate director and a member of the company of the Antioch (Ohio) Shakespeare Festival, directing or performing in all 37 plays.

latter was commissioned by the Juilliard School of Music. Mr. Limon is on the faculty at Juilliard.

Jose Limon and his company have appeared in 42 states and half the countries of the world, dancing abroad under the auspices of the State Department's Cultural Exchange Program. The dancer has, in addition, served on the faculties at Bennington and Sarah Lawrence and the Connecticut College for Women, where he was associated with the American Dance Festival.

WE SAW HIM ON TV! Milbourne the Magician. His name is Christopher, actually. Milbourne is his first name, and you're right, you have see him on TV—Jack Paar, Steve Allen, Jackie Gleason and Arthur Murray have all been his hosts.

Now it's Princeton's turn. Mr. Christopher will come to McCarter on that magic day, February 20, at 11 a.m., to brighten the Saturday morning of "young and old," as her always say when they're talking about a magician.

PROGRAM SCHEDULED

In March By Ballet Co. The Princeton Regional Ballet Company will present its next program on Sunday, March 14 at 3 McCarter Theatre. Tickets for the program will go on sale shortly at the theater box office.

The regional ballet was launched in May, 1964, and its first two productions were rapidly sold out. It is sponsored by the Princeton Ballet Society, a nonprofit organization. Mrs. Andree Estey is the company's artistic director.

CHARLIE'S BACK

"Gold Rush." An evening with Charlie Chaplin will be celebrated for the third year on Monday when McCarter dusts off a couple of two-reelers and that wonderful old classic, "The Gold Rush." Lights dim at 8.

Written and directed by Chaplin in 1925, "The Gold Rush" shows the comedian as a lone prospector in Alaska during the Klondike days of 1898. Many students of Chaplin's art believe that "The Gold Rush" is his greatest achievement.

With this full-length feature on the McCarter program will be "The Adventurer" and "The Fireman," two-reelers both. Tickets at the door.

Comedy Breaks Record

A new house record of $12,634.65 for three performances was set by "All in Good Time", the British comedy that had its American premiere at McCarter the last week-end in January.

The Broadway debut of "All in Good Time" is still up in the air because of the dock strike. The opening, originally scheduled for February 3, is supposed to take place this Saturday if the strike is settled in time. If it is not, the opening will probably be postponed again.

The dock strike is a factor because the set for "All in Good Time" is in the hold of a freighter. Dress rehearsals are continuing in New York on a few key properties—including that all-important bed—borrowed from McCarter.

"BECKET AT STRAND

B&R And Chiller Set. The New Strand in Lambertville is showing "Becket," starring Peter O'Toole and Richard Burton through Saturday. On Sunday, the live rock and roll show held last December, is booked for an 8 p.m. return engagement.

"M" the Kidnapper," the 1931 film classic which catapulted Peter Lorre to fame, is scheduled for Monday through Wednesday, February 15-17 Directed by Fritz Lang, it was one of a series of horror films depicting the conditions in post-war Germany which gave rise to the Hitler gang.

The companion piece is a contemporary Italian comedy, "Fiasco in Milan," starring Claudia Cardinale and Vittorio Gassman.

Your body contains a minute amount of iron, magnesium, calcium, iodine, etc., yet your daily intake of food is not based on any one of these elements, BUT upon the daily intake of proteins. Protein in your diet sustains life and aids in the rebuilding of the cellular structure of the body and prevents premature aging. . . and "wasting away" of the body.

Now that Science proclaims that the cellular structure of the skin is composed mainly of Protein. . .doesn't it seem strange to you that cosmetics do not contain a prepondérance of Protein and but very little oils, etc.

This common sense approach to Science is what Redken Laboratories advocates in ALL of their beauty salon cosmetics. . .and the tremendous success of Redken products in the Beauty Field and their influence on the manufacture of beauty products in general speaks for itself as to the success of Redken's beliefs.

REDKEN SHAMPOO AMINO-PON "Scientifically used by progressive beauty salons throughout the world is based on the actual health of the hair and scalp as pointed out by Bio-Chemistry. . . Careless Smoker?

If you are, you need the new ash-tray accessory now at Zinder's, among the Valentine candies and the red hearts.

This accessory is just a spiral of metal wire designed to hold your cigarette just so. With heat, it expands, and when the cigarette has burned dangerously low, it simply bends over and decants the cigarette into the ashtray.

Simple? Then how come you never thought of it yourself? Zinder's sells it with its own ashtray, but you can attach it to any other.

And if you do go to Tahiti—can we come, too?

VILLAGER, WITH CREAM

Madras? Oh Sure. Strawberries on cream—can you imagine a dress with a springier print? It's a Villager, that well-loved and wonderfully classic line, and we saw it at Nevius-Voorhees where spring classics are blooming like crocuses.

Next to the strawberry print on the Villager rack is a pale denim blue princesse with a big white ruched bib edged with the same lace that goes around the short sleeve.

You didn't think Villager would forget Madras, did you?

This year, the Madras has long sleeves, deep slash pockets and a belt that goes through a tunnel at the sides, emerges in the back and again in the front, where it ends in a soft tie. Same style in blue and white ticking stripe.

Sportsempo mixes and matches to infinity. Take the classic red-white-navy tennis pullover. Pair it with a red flannel blazer lined with navy crepe and buttoned low, like a vest, with brass buttons. Wear the white flannel pleated skirt (lemon, pink, avocado, powder, coo) or the red flannel slacks. Red or bright navy ribbed pullovers go with the creamy white flannel slacks.

Or, take the turquoise-olive-white combination, with its white soft-bow crepe blouse and the turquoise cardigan

THE LADY WITH A PAST: Detectives have all the fun these days, as George Maharis proves in "Sylvia," co-starring Carroll Baker, at the Playhouse and the Prince Theatres.

PLAYHOUSE and PRINCE

Sylvia (thru Wed. Thursday) "I want to know who she is and what she was, and I'll pay you $15,000 to find out."

With these instructions, private eye George Maharis is sent to investigate the past life of a young poetess, "Sylvia," played by Carroll Baker. His employer is a multi-millionaire Peter Lawford, who has a hunch he is being loved for his money.

The winding trail picked up by Maharis leads from Pittsburgh to Mexico to California, uncovering scandal and vice. Appearing in cameo roles during the hunt are Joanne Dru, Viveca Lindfors, Edmond O'Brien, Aldo Ray and Ann Sothern.

As "Sylvia," Carroll Baker works hard at her attempt to be Hollywood's second Jean Harlow, but it is Maharis who somehow manages to shine through with a quietly efficient performance.

THE GARDEN

World Without Sun (thru Tues. Feb. 23). This is an undersea documentary, produced and directed by Jacques-Yves Cousteau. It continues from the point where his "The Silent World" of eight years ago left off.

A group of men live for a month under the Red Sea without returning to the surface. The scenes in which they are shown adapting to an entirely new mode of living, coping with the terrible sense of isolation that is as frightening as its way as encounters with sea monsters are more interesting than science fiction.

The picture is full of unique sights, the diving submarine called "Denise," its underwater garage, these games underwater and the photographs at 1,000 feet below the surface where neither man nor cameras have ventured before.

It's New To Us

pently scalloped boat neck ($29.98) and for cool days, Anne Fogarty's dacron worsted in rich heavy cream, designed with accordion pleats, round collar, long sleeves and navy blue topstitching ($79.98).

The bathing suit you pack may be the black one with its four-inch pleated tricon skirt and mesh midriff, or the ladylike flowered blue, cut in sarong style.

For cool evenings south and spring days north, you'll buy the pastel tweed suit by Pendleton in aqua or lemon, edged with an inch of wool yarn. A casual topcoat with standaway collar goes over the shoulders for extra warmth.

A white knit suit has cherry jersey (or royal) to face the lapels and make the contrasting collar. It's $39.98.

Ready to wear a spring straw? Hats at Nevius-Voorhees this spring are made of that big rough-weave straw, shiny to catch the spring sun. We saw it in a little hat with brim tuned up all adound, and a more sophisticated toque. Another breed of straw has been used for the black-white boundabouth hat with its turned down brim and bulbous crown. Schiaparelli presents a navy pillbox in finest straw, almost like fabric. It's the classic of the season.

SKIM THE SUN

The "Little Shoe." Skimmers the color of the sun on tropical flowers—what could be more cheering in mid-winter? Nassau Shoe Tree, on Palmer Square, has a whole window full of these sun-skimming shoes.

Try on the seablue and seagreen striped one with its hemp trimming around the sole. Add the powder blue and the red, just to keep up with your wardrobe.

Daffodil yellow has a black tie and just a glimpse of black sole. The fabric is smooth, almost like fine poplin, Lipstick red is the color of the bopsacking shoe, but is comes in apple green, too, for more relaxed moments.

Kedettes makes a daffodil, too. It's the well-loved design you've worn for years, but in a new color. Comes also in a batik print, or a starched white net.

One-inch stacked heel brings a touch of formality to pumpkin's floral lined shoe in daffodil, natural or black. A sling is powder blue or yellow imported straw, with flowers lining it all around.

Suit and dress shoes for spring are beginning to bloom at Shoe Tree—keep watching the window. Start now with Mademoiselle's vivid lime sling back or Caressa's powder blue pump with its fringed grosgrain bow — most feminine shoe you ever saw.

An opera pump in lizard ($26.95) has its matching bag and the ensemble is worthy of your finest spring outfit. Fabrizio shows a white pump narrowly edged with a brown overlay that gives it the look of an updated spectator. Look at it in navy with green, too.

Understated charm in Fabrizio's navy kidskin with its quiet, narrow little bow. The patent shell (in black, of course) has a spaghetti bow across the little vamp opening. Caressa's shell is patent, too, with three narrow straps in coffee brown across the deep instep.

And Mary Janes, of all things. These are Caressa's answer to the renewed interest in round toes. Black patent, just like dancing school, with round toe and one inch shaped heel. Later on they'll be available in white, too. Now all you need is a hair-ribbon.

Summer cools comes with Golo's pale blue suede with its low heel and single shoestring threading two small eyelets. Caressa is "Mellow" in the bone, polished calf of that name, fashioned into the softest shoe—you can almost fold it into your pocket. Summer suede in willow gold combines with leather to make a sling-back which will be the staple of your own personal shoe-tree. We're buying that Mary Jane. . . .

BBs SHATTER WINDOWS

Of School, Parked Cars. Five windows on the north corner of the new addition to the Riverside School were broken some time Friday night by vandals using BB air rifles. Plastic butts of two air rifles were found under one of the windows Saturday morning by Township police, who believe they were used to break some of the windows after the vandals had run out of ammunition.

It is possible that the same gun wielders also left a trail of shattered car windows stretching between Princeton High and Riverside schools. Borough police received four reports of broken car windows and the Township, two. All said their windows had been broken sometime Friday night.

In the Borough, Nicholas Bartolino, 8 Tee-Ar Place, and Peter Howell, 39 Maple Street, reported the rear windows of their station wagons shattered. Mr. Bartolino said his car had been parked on Moore Street near the high school.

Jack Rydell, Windsor Drive, Princeton Junction, said the rear window of his car had been shattered Friday night while it was parked in the lot located at the rear of the high school. Mark Knowlton, Canal Road, said two windows of his VW Microbus were shattered as it was parked in front of 270 Hamilton Avenue.

Two Township residents had similar reports. John F. Mueller, 393 Snowden Lane, reported the rear window and a rear side window of his station wagon shattered. Mr. Mueller, who works in New York City, told police he had parked his car in front of 12 Riverside Drive.

Mrs. Norman L. Seltzer, 24 Woodside Lane, awoke Saturday morning to discover a shattered window on her car which had been left in the driveway. She told police that she had not seen or heard anything.

Ordinarily, according to the police, when a window is struck by a BB pellet the only damage is a small hole. But they added, if the windows are cold, as a result of the weather—and it was cold Friday night—they will shatter if hit by a BB, especially, if it is tempered glass.

CYCLIST IS INJURED

In Nassau Street Crash. A 21-year-old motorcyclist and a 56-year-old woman from Hamilton Square were injured last week in separate accidents.

Igor W. Grosdoff, 21, 168 Carter Road, was treated at Princeton Hospital for lacerations of his left eye and leg, which he received when his motorcycle crashed into a car Saturday shortly before noon at the intersection of Witherspoon and Nassau Streets.

Pfl. Thomas Procaccino, who witnessed the mishap, said Mr. Grosdoff ran into the side of a car making a left turn onto Witherspoon Street. He charged him with a red light violation.

The operator of the car was Larry R. Butterfoss, 17, 249 Mt. Lucas Road.

The same day, Elizabeth J. Feldenzer of Hamilton Square received lacerations of her lip and scalp contusions when her car was rammed from behind by another driven by William M. Meagher, 28, of Trenton.

Township police said Mr. Meagher struck the Feldenzer car as it was making a left turn onto Lovers Lane from Stockton. They quoted Mr. Meagher as saying he had seen Mrs. Feldenzer's ear slowing, but not noticing any directional lights or brake lights he proceeded to overtake her. His badly damaged car had to be towed away.

THEY REALLY SATISFY

Cigarette Machines That is. Someone who may have kicked the habit of smoking is pursuing another here in Princeton, filling cigarette machines. To the dismay of the Borough police and the vending machine companies, the rash of forced cigarette machines continues.

Last week four more were reported looted for their coin boxes. They were located in the Elm Club, Wilcox Hall, the Engineering Quadrangle and the Masonic Temple, John Street and Leigh Avenue.

In addition, someone stole cigarettes and a box of cigars with a combined value of $26 from the cigarette racks in the King's Court, Witherspoon Street Borough police report a window near the front door latch had been broken to gain entry. Apparently, nothing else was taken, they said.

MUSIC WITH YOUR WINE

For Symphony Benefit. Tickets for the Princeton Symphony Wine Tasting are available at the Princeton Gourmet Shop and at Hinkson's Stationery Store. The affair will be held from 5 to 8 on Saturday at 91 Prospect Avenue.

Virginia Rubottom, a pianist from New York City, will play at the wine tasting, which is being conducted for the benefit of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra. The Gourmet Shop is contributing authentic French bread for the event.

During the wine tasting, the audience will view humorous sketches and paintings by the following members of the Princeton Art Association: Mrs. John Roberts, Mrs. Heinz Heinemann, Mrs. Peter Loret, Henry Martin, Mrs. Jean Goepfe - Hsu, Mrs. Leighton Laughlin, Mrs. Richard Hu land, February 6, Trinity Cathedral, Trenton. The bride is a senior at the Mercer Hospital School of Nursing. Her husband was educated at Eton College and graduated from the University of Cambridge. He is manager of Techne Ltd. in Princeton.

Ross-Liggett. Miss Nancy L. Liggett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Liggett of 231 State Road, to Lieutenant (j.g.) Robert F. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Ross of Liberal, Kan., February 6, First Presbyterian Church. The bride is an alumna of Princeton High School and Grove City College. Her husband was graduated from the University of Nebraska.

IT'S A VERY BIG STEP

When baby starts to walk, the famous Firstie helps with just the right support and easy flexibility. Our skilled fitters see to it — so you know everything's right from the very first step.

THE STRIDE RITE Firstie

Dedicated to the idea that you'd better not leave well enough alone

IN THE CENTER of a 107-acre plot in South Brunswick Township, N. J., Dow Jones & Company has just completed its new national research and administrative facility.

It consists of two buildings, about 150 feet apart.

They are connected by more than a walkway and a telephone system.

They are joined by a management philosophy of "constructive discontent."

One building houses circulation sales, purchasing, personnel, accounting, production and other administrative departments for the Dow Jones organization. Here is where present methods and equipment undergo constant evaluation... and where new concepts are born.

The second building is where Dow Jones engineers translate new technical concepts into new realities.

Thus, the two structures are linked by one goal: to continue giving Dow Jones customers —readers and advertisers—a better buy for their money.

Dow Jones publications and services now include The Wall Street Journal, Barron's, The National Observer, Dow Jones Instant News broad tape ticker service, and the Dow Jones Newsbooks.

No publication is being printed in the new facility. Dow Jones has 7 other plants across the country for that purpose. No news gathering or editing is being done here. Dow Jones has 21 news offices across the U.S. and abroad for those purposes. This facility is dedicated to—don't leave well enough alone.

Dow Jones & Company, Inc.
44 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY

Come visit us! You are cordially invited to attend a special "open house" reception at Dow Jones & Company's new research and administrative facility, on Saturday, February 13, 11 A.M. to 2:30 P.M. ——— Location: East side of U.S. Highway No. 1, 0.6 mile north of Ridge Road, about 7 miles northeast of Princeton.

TALENT SHOW PLANNED

Auditions Saturday. Young people from the Princeton area who can sing, dance, play a musical instrument or who have some similar ability are invited to participate in a talent show to be held at the Princeton YMCA next Saturday, February 20. Those interested in performing will be auditioned this Saturday between 10 and noon at the Dorothea House, 120 John Street.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the best group, the best single performer and the best dance couple. The show is being held as a benefit to help the Valiants' Drill Team purchase new marching uniforms.

Judges will include Betty Gates of WIWH and Rod McManigal, theatrical producer. Additional information can be obtained from the Y office, Avalon Place.

BIRTHS

Fourteen Born. Nine Boys and five girls were born last week at Princeton Hospital.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lehmann, 302 Ninanne Boulevard, January 31; Mr. and Mrs. James Kahler, 8 Rumson Road, Kendall Park, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cirullo, 63-C N. Main Street, Cranbury, both on February 1; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Roth, 53 Conover Street, Freehold, February 3; Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Buttress, 15 S. Main Street, Cranbury, February 5; Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Moes, Haytown Road, Lebanon, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross, Tindall Farm, Edinburgh Road, Trenton, both on February 6; Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Voorhees, Oakdale Village, South Brunswick, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fjeldal, 83 Stillwell Road, Kendall Park, both on February 7.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hester, Alexander Road, February 2; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reed, 12 Berkley Drive, Morrisville, Pa., February 4; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gardenker, 492 Riverside Drive, February 5; Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Schott, 20 E. Stanworth Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Guy, 18 Tempo Road, Levittown, Pa., both on February 6.

CARROLL RESIGNS

As Freeholders' Clerk. Philip T. Carroll, 338 Nassau Street, has resigned as clerk of the Mercer County Board of Freeholders, a position he has held for the past 13 years.

Mr. Carroll indicated that he plans to devote his full time to his insurance business. His term expires next week, and Freeholder Richard J. Coffee said that a number of persons are under consideration as his successor for the $11,600 per year position.

ELECTION RESULTS

Lawrence Township. Incumbents Benjamin F. McMahon and L. Bruce Cranstoun were re-elected with respective totals of 592 and 546, while seated for the third three-year term was Richard M. Horch, 505. The losers were John S. Kramer, 439, and George J. Levinskas, 343.

In the race for a two-year term, Leonard M. Darbee defeated Philip J. Accardo, 499 to 271.

Montgomery Township. Charles W. Grayson with 399 and Norman T. Hoagland, 317, were re-elected. Also successful at Tuesday's polls was Burton Weiss, 312.

The losers were A. Louis Shor, 268, and Richard Handler, 246. Better than 25% of the registered voters took part in the election.

West Windsor. The winners were Michael C. Greschak, Clarence Marshall Jr. and John B. Janiek, the latter an incumbent. Charles W. Raleigh lost in the four-way race for three-year terms; Donald Perrine was named without opposition to a one-year term.

Budgets in all three of these municipalities were approved.

BUDGET PASSES EASILY

In Hopewell Valley. The proposed budget for the newly-created Hopewell Valley Regional school system was okayed Tuesday by the voters in Hopewell Township and Pennington by a margin of three-to-one. It passed by a nine-to-one margin in Hopewell Borough, where the voting, as in all three municipalities, was light.

The budget was divided between current expenses and land, building and equipment. Combining Pennington and Hopewell Township, the vote for current expenses was 635 to 207; land, etc., 626 to 203. In Hopewell Borough, the figures were 75 to 8 and 75 to 6. The combined budget for current expenses totaled $1,496,603; for land, buildings and equipment, $38,991.

While the voting was in process, the newly-elected nine-man regional school board was electing its own officers. Philip Alamo was named president, Richard Van Doren, vice-president, and William Holcombe, secretary - treasurer.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT PERMANENT WAVING
Bio-Wave
By Jheri Redding
what every woman should know about Bio-Wave
The Bio-Wave Permanent is an entirely new concept in permanent waving, based in the catalytic action of enzymes. Hair never becomes frizzy, brittle and dry, but possesses a uniformly soft, healthy appearance with amazing body and texture. The wave is non-active, non-toxic, non-sensitising. Bio-Wave will make a perfect wave that will last and last.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

"You're a Living Doll"

It was a grateful and heart-felt "thank you!"—the full page advertisement that ran in last week's TOWN TOPICS: "Patsy, you're a living doll: for the two longest days. (Signed) Mom."

"Patsy," a Princeton housewife, was surprised and a bit staggered. She certainly touched by the unusual expression of gratitude extended by a friend whom she had helped in a matter of need. She has had the ad framed.

"Some popers have 'Personals Sale' columns," she commented this week. "All I can say is, 'Use a page in TOWN TOPICS instead!'" entered the building however, he said, before it was extinguished. About 60 volunteer firemen and eight pieces of equipment answered the call.

ARE YOU JOB-MINDED?

Conference Will Help. Princeton area alumnae clubs of the seven college conference will sponsor a vocational program Saturday at the Community Park School for interested college students. The meeting will be attended by Princeton professional women offering advice to the career minded.

Registration will begin at 11 and will be followed by an open meeting. Miss Drue Matthews directed of vocational planning and placement at Mount Holyoke College, will lead the session.

Following a luncheon at 12:30, career workshops will be held from 1:30 to 3:30. Each Workshop will run for an hour and will then be repeated so that each student will be allowed to attend two of the sessions.

Workshop subjects and leaders will include:

Press and Publishing: Miss Jean MacLachlan, managing editor, "Journal of International Relations," Princeton University, and Stewart Richardson, editor and publisher, Lippincott.

Social Work: Mrs. Betty Trimble, director, Princeton Family Service; Mrs. Belle Parmet, Carrier Clinic, and Mrs. John Keefe, School of Social Work, Rutgers.

Research: Mrs. William Cherry, mathematics research, Princeton University; Dr. Marian Yevick, Mathematics Retraining Program, Rutgers, and Mrs. Michael Mahoney, chemical research, Princeton University.

Library Work: Miss Dorothea Collins, Pliny Fiske Economics Library, Princeton University; Mrs. L. J. Hackenberg, Princeton Public Library, and J. Lucker, Princeton University Library and Drexel Institute Library School.

Teaching: Mrs. Ernest Lynton, teachers' aide, Princeton Township Schools; Mrs. Fred Shorter, director of part-time volunteers, Princeton Township Schools; Mrs. David Hapgood, Community Park School; Mrs. Richard Lile, Miss Fine's School; Mrs. Nancy Tomlinson, Crossroads Nursery School, Institute for Advanced Study, and Dr. Donald Hernman, State Department of Education.

Merchandising: Mrs. Jane Adriance, free-lance artist; Miss Patricia Gellert, Princeton Gourmet Shop, and Mrs. Constance Bramer, Karl Light Real Estate.

Volunteer Work: Mrs. Howard Fox, Princeton Volunteer Center; Mrs. Richard Schoch, Council of Community Services; Mrs. Josephine H. Mathey, politics, and Mrs. John C. Bullitt, nursery schools for children from culturally-deprived backgrounds.

VOCATIONAL PLANNERS: The presidents of four of the sponsoring clubs of Saturday's vocational conference discuss plans for the program which will be held at the Community Park School. From left to right they are Mrs. Ernest A. Lynton, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. Ellwood W. Godfrey, Smith; Mrs. George F. Thomas, Mount Holyoke; and Mrs. Robert Greiff, Vassar.

Registration fee for the entire program will be $2 per person, including lunch, payable at the door. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Howard Fox, 921-6387.

Arrangements are under the direction of the presidents of the sponsoring college clubs: Mrs. George F. Thomas, Mount Holyoke; Mrs. Henry Broad, Wellesley; Mrs. Ellwood W. Godfrey, Smith; Mrs. Robert Greiff, Vassar; Mrs. Ernest A. Lynton, Bryn Mawr, and Mrs. John W. Tukey, Radcliffe.

PROJECT APPROVED

For Herrontown Road. The "Point of Woods" development proposed for the Herrontown Road area by Lewis Kraft and Stanley Pilshaw, was approved Monday night by the Township planning Board subject to certain engineering conditions.

"Point of Woods" will consist of 18 lots with homes in the $60,000 bracket. Mr. Kraft told the Planning Board that he did not know whether the homes would be "Colonial or "modern." "We will be happy to receive buyers and to put up whatever they wish," he said.

Lester V. Chandler, 88 Westerly Road, will join the Planning Board, replacing John F. Donal and serving, as Mr. Donal has done, as Board liaison with the Township School Board. Mr. Donal, who resigned because of the pressure of other duties, still had five and one-half years of his Board term remaining.

The proposed new post office building on Harrison Street was not discussed at Monday's meeting because an expected memorandum on the building had not been received in time for study before the meeting.

The Board decided to name a sub-committee whose members would explore the "Castle Howard" property to determine how the road could be laid out to preserve the trees

SURVEY MOVES AHEAD

Fund in Next Step. The appointment of a Citizens' Survey Committee — next step in the Princeton United Community Fund-Council of Community Services survey — was announced this week.

The survey began last year with the appointment of a Steering Committee and a director, Mrs. Harold Sprout. The first Committee was composed of three members each from the United Fund and the Council of Community Services.

Now, the Citizens' Committee will take over from the Steering Committee, and will be responsible for the conduct of the survey and the final report. That final report, according to William Coley, executive director of the United Fund, will constitute a long-range plan for the development of health, welfare and recreation services in the United Fund area.

In the course of the survey, each agency of the Fund will analyse itself, following an outline prepared by the Steering Committee. In a new development, the Fund staff has decided to establish "area self-studies" designed to give each area the clearest possible picture of its own needs and facilities.

Many areas served by the Fund are rural, with residents who are not always aware of what the community can offer them, Mr. Coley and his staff pointed out.

Study panels assigned to Health, Welfare and Recreation will evaluate the material prepared by the self-study process, and then turn it over to outside experts for recommendations. Final decisions will be made by the Citizens Survey Committee.

Members of this Committee from Princeton are Philip Minis, Robert W. Bailey, Jeremiah Finch, Mrs. Floyd J. Campbell, David Rose, Mrs. Murray Lampert, Mrs. Benjamin Wright, Mrs. Melvin B. Gottlieb and Raymond A. Bowers.

Mrs. Richard Dearborn and Robert P. Popino will represent West Windsor; Irving Van Zandt will represent the eastern part of Hopewell Township and Edgar Gemmell the eastern part of Lawrence.

Robert I. Moss and Frank H. Johnson will be the Montgomery Township representatives, and Robert L. Eisenmann, Jr., Lawrence.

Warren W. Wagner, president of the Council of Community Services; Paul E. Orr, Jr., chairman of the Fund's social planning and research committee; Mrs. Sproul and Mr. Coley will be ex officio.

OFFICERS ELECTED

At Dutch Neck School. Mrs. Donald Armengol has been elected president of the Dutch Neck Cooperative Nursery School for 1965.

Other officers are Mrs. G. Hubard Waxter, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Wright, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. James W. Souders, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Douglas Malsbury, treasurer. The new trustees are Mrs. Donald Fraipont, Mrs. Richard Harbourt and Mrs. Drew Holman, II. Mrs. Florence D. Shroeder, who previously taught kindergarten, was named the teacher of classes for four year olds. Residents interested in enrolling their children in the school should contact Mrs. Walter at 586-0099.

NURSES TO MEET

For Annual Program. The Visiting Nurse Association will hold its annual meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John C. Williams of 120 Winant Road at 2:30.

Mrs. Martha E. Esposito, a registered nurse from Newark, will be the guest speaker. She will discuss her special field, restorative nursing and rehabilitation. Supporters of the Princeton Area United Community Fund are invited to attend.

PLANTING TALK SET

By Dogwood Club. The Dogwood Garden Club will hold its February meeting Thursday at noon in the home of Mrs. John Houghton of 122 Hun Road.

Richard Clark will deliver a talk on pruning and planting. Mr. Clark is with the Howe Nurseries and has worked with the club in the planting at the Rescue Squad building.

WIVES TO CONVENE

For Camping Discussion. The Junior Faculty Wives will gather in the meeting room of Hibben Apartments Monday at 8:15.

The meeting will center around the experiences of veteran campers in the organization. Slides will be shown and there will be a discussion of advisable campsites. Mrs. Robinson Hyde is chairman of the organization.

SALE PLANNED

By Scout Troop. Boy Scout Troop 77 will hold its third annual light bulb sale from February 20 to 27.

Members of the troop will solicit orders in a door-to-door campaign and will deliver the bulbs in person. The funds raised from the sale will be used to purchase scouting equipment and in support of special activities.

PLAN FOOTBALL FILM

For Fathers' Night. A movie "Highlights of the National Football League Games," will be shown Tuesday at the St. Paul's School PTA Fathers' Night. Husbands of executive board members will conduct the business meeting.

The session begins at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Hostesses will be the mothers of third and fourth grade pupils.

88 IS 22

Scouts Celebrate. Troop 88, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Princeton Methodist Church, celebrated its 22nd anniversity Monday with a banquet, and looked to the future with plans for a 50-mile hike along the Appalachian Trail in Virginia after school closes in June. The troop will attend summer camp in August.

The troop's program is planned and executed by the Green Bar Patrol headed by Alan Downey, senior patrol leader, and David Bain, assistant senior patrol leader. Michael Kerner is scribe and Bruce Hook, quartermaster.

Patrol leaders are Bruce Alexander, Ray Ashton, Thomas Bain, Richard Keuer and Robert Moore. Jack Bleasher and William Hinkson are junior assistant Scoutmasters.

Scoutmaster for 88 is W. R. Breeze. Assistant Scoutmasters are H. O. Hook, C. R. de Burlo, G. W. Jackson and E. L. Kern. W. H. Bleacher is institute representative and J. T. Johnson, chairman of the troop committee.

IT'S FAIR FOR ALL

Auction on Saturday. Oils, bread and ice-skates will be among the auction items offered Saturday at the February Fair-For-All at the Unitarian Church. Warm-up will begin at 10 and the auction at 11:30.

The oils are original paintings by Princeton artists. The bread is home-made, freshly baked on Saturday. The ice-skates are outgrown, but still good.

Portions of a large private collection of Oriental art will also be up for bidding, and so will a contemporary chandelier, buffet silver, mirrors, a rug, a model plane with a motor, a child's microscope set and a pair of riding boots.

Gourmet foods including hors d'oeuvre, canapes, cakes and pies, will be on sale, and luncheons, sandwiches and beverages will be available for those who want lunch while they bid.

Proceeds will be used toward a scholarship at Starr King Theological School, Berkeley, California.

$3,000 FOR SENIORS

PTA Scholarship Funds. Seniors at Princeton High will be the beneficiaries of $3,000 in scholarship money, raised by members of the Scholarship Fund Raising Committee through the sale of magazine subscriptions.

Mrs. C. L. Sonnenschein, chairman of the Committee, said in announcing, the sum, that additional subscriptions during the spring months might make the amount even larger at graduation time.

PTA members have been raising scholarship money since 1948, when the proceeds of a card party brought in $267.96. Subsequent projects, including the Hunt Brothers Circus, lifted the amount to $849.

Magazine subscription sales began in 1950 and were so

Thank You Note.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am so thrilled to be TOWN TOPICS choice as Woman of the Week (January 28). I don't believe the words you wrote, but I like the way you wrote them.

Perhaps the greatest happiness I am getting out of the article is the tremendous pleasure it is giving to my friends at "Recording for the Blind." I realize only too well that it is THEY who made it possible for an article to be written. It is their volunteer work and their combined spirit that made my chairmanship such an easy one.

I have tried in many different ways to say thank you to them and now you have done it for me.

ALMA ROTNEM

Another Blow for Columbia.

To the Editor of Town Topics

The presumptuousness of your sports editor's rating of Princeton over Columbia academically in the January 28 issue struck me immediately. Although I was tempted to write, I did not because my connection with the Columbia admissions office, as second-ary school representative) is known to some people in town. I would have been quite content to let the matter rest with Peter W. Halbert's pointed letter last week but the patronizing little editor's note raised the hackles a bit.

Bluntly, Columbia's academic superiority over Princeton is as clearly demonstratable as Princeton's superiority over Columbia in football. I do not believe that a parochial Princeton newspaper is the best medium in which to tick it off point by point, but in academic circles where snob appeal is not the factor it is in the magic incantation of "H-Y-P", only the "H" makes it to the very top and the "P" comes out third in that select group of three.

By criteria that include faculty and student quality among others, the big three of collegiate excellence in this country are Harvard, Columbia and Chicago. This is not to say that Princeton is not an excellent school. It is. It does have certain glaring gapes and the administration recognizes this even if the townsfolk can't believe it.

One index of how the schools themselves think is that Princeton admissions policies are being revised to attract a student body more like Columbia's, not vice versa. This is a matter for congratulation since we all know that Princeton's admissions policies were not geared, a generation back, to the pursuit of academic excellence in a leading educational institution in the world's greatest democracy. Princeton is a top-flight school. Columbia is one of the world's great universities.

Each fall we Old Blues hope to topple Princeton on the football field. So too does Princeton try to match Columbia in the classroom. It is only fitting.

Yours in friendly rivalry,
ABRAHAM SELDNER
188 Grover Avenue

Editor's Note: A Lion roars that "Columbia is one of the world's great universities," Princeton merely "a top-flight school." Any Tiger care to reply?

Victors Express Thanks.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Through your publication, the seven members of the Sound Education - Reasonable Cost slate who were elected to serve on the New Hopewell Valley Regional Board of Education wish to thank all of those who participated in the campaign and contributed their services.

We hope the same interest that prevailed in the election will continue as we proceed with the regionalization of the schools in the three municipalities. Although they campaigned as a slate, the members of our group are free to make their own decisions on all school matters. All are dedicated to maintaining high standards of education and getting full value for every dollar in the budget.

We also invite the cooperation of all concerned during this period of transition. Many important decisions must be made prior to next July 1 when the new Regional Board assumes full responsibility. We welcome any suggestions or recommendations that will help us to fulfill the mandate of the electorate and contribute to the betterment of the school system.

Lights Appreciated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It gives us great pleasure to express our appreciation now that the lights are installed in the new parking lot off Moore Street.

It is clear that Mr. Cawley and his staff carefully considered our petition of last summer and made every effort to please us. The result is perhaps as happy a one as can be hoped for. The lamps are simple, unobtrusive, low and masked as much as possible for the comfort of residents in the vicinity.

small that they had to be augmented by the re-engagement of the circus, and even thee, the total was only $325. Growth has spurted since 1952, however, and last year, the Committee awarded $2,400 in scholarships.

Subscriptions to magazines may be mailed to Princeton High School PTA Scholarship Fund, Princeton High School.

SMITH CLUB NETS $5,300

Mrs. Vivian Wins Raffle. Mrs. Frederick E. Blum, chairman of the 16th annual auction sponsored by the Smith College Club, reports that the event has raised over $5,300 net.

The raffle, directed by Mrs. Kester Pierson, was won by Mrs. Leslie L. Vivian Jr., who will choose between a Bermuda vacation and an RCA color TV set.

Among the highlights of the event was the children's entertainment, which featured folk singing, "Roy the Magician," and puppets handled by Mrs. George Morton's pupils. These included Pat Clark, Diana Clerry, Holly Hendrickson, Joan Kahn, Kathy Myers, Betsey Shy, Mary Speers and Robin Smith.

BELLS, BELLS, BELLS!

At Junior Museum. Arthur Bigelow, Princeton University's carillonneur, will give a demonstration lecture for young people at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Princeton Junior Museum in Borough Hall.

He will bring his collection of bells, gongs, cymbals to the main auditorium and explain how such instruments have been made and used around the world.

Balalaikas, banjos and mandolins will be featured this Saturday at a 2 p.m. demonstration-program by Princeton University undergraduates led by Dick Gordon. The balalaika is a traditional Russian instrument somewhat similar to a three-stringed mandolin. The players will offer to instruct anyone who owns the instrument.

COURSE OFFERED

On Basic Seamanship. Flotilla No. 47 of the Princeton Unit of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary will offer a course in basic seamanship and safe boat handling to the public beginning Tuesday, February 25.

Co-sponsored by the Princeton YMCA, the course will continue for 10 weeks and will consist of two-hour sessions from 8 to 10 at the YWCA on Avalon Place. Registration may be made at the Y through the first evening of the course.

The flotilla has regular monthly meetings every second Wednesday of the month at the Chambers Street Firehouse. A film describing a trip up the St. Lawrence Seaway by outboard will be featured at the February meeting. The public is welcome to attend.

MEETING SCHEDULED

For Women's College Club. The Women's College Club of Princeton will meet at 1:30 Monday in the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road. William T. McCleary, editor and playwright, will speak on "Some Experiences in the Theatre."

Mr. McCleary is presently editor of Princeton's magazine, University. He has been on the editorial staff of Life and the Ladies' Home Journal.

The club will hold a tea in honor of new members on March 1 from 3 to 6 at the home of Mrs. Mark M. Jones of 139 Library Place. The organization has also organized an investment study group under the direction of Bruce Smith and a theatre matinee trip to New York City on March 31 to see "Baker Street."

RUMMAGE SALE PLANNED

By Borough P.T.A. The Borough Elementary School P. T. A. will hold its annual rummage sale Wednesday and Thursday next week from 8:30 to 3:30 each day.

There will also be an evening sale on Wednesday from 7 until 9. The rummage, under the direction of Mrs. Robert H. Parmenter, will be held at the Nassau Street School on the gymnasium track. From President Lyndon B. Johnson's State of the Union Message:

"I will seek new ways to use our knowledge to help deal with the explosion of world population and the growing scarcity of resources."

IN this single sentence, President Johnson revealed his keen awareness of the population crisis.

Sharing this concern, former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman are serving as Co-Chairmen of the Planned Parenthood—World Population Honorary Sponsors Council.

General Eisenhower said recently, "The population explosion has become one of the critical world problems of our time. It threatens to smother the economic progress of many nations and endangers the free world struggle for peace and security. Greatly expanded public and private efforts must be undertaken to contain this human explosion."

Even in America

Nor is this problem restricted to far-off places. It affects American youth, American workers. "There is strong indication," Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz has noted, "that a disproportionate number of the unemployed come from large families. . . . Responsible, informed parenthood is relevant in any consideration of a responsible, informed position regarding manpower supply and demand."

The crisis is not just a threat; it is a fact. We are on a collision course of rampant population growth. Spokesmen of all faiths are deeply worried. "No sizeable modern nation," declares Father John Thomas; the distinguished Jesuit, "could long make reasonable provision for its population increase if its people were to make use of their full reproductive capacity." Richard Cardinal Cushing applauded his fellow Catholic churchman, Dr. John Rock, for calling to task "those who are unwilling to face the implications of the population explosion."

The tide of human numbers will rise by 160,000 today—more than 60,000,000 this year. World population will double by the end of the century, if present birth rates continue. At this pace, John Gunther observes, "In many nations there can be no advance at all, for the simple reason that the great expanding mass of people, human mouths, will eat progress away."

A new moral imperative

The traditional goals of family planning remain unchanged—deep-rooted, incontestable: to give each new infant the birthright of a warm welcome in a loving home, with a healthy opportunity for education, employment, fullfillment. Now the pressures of population growth add a new moral imperative to the limitation of family size everywhere:

We have in our power today the ability to protect the children of tomorrow from a world that is tragically overcrowded. We can, through Planned Parenthood today, make possible a better life for future generations. If we fail, what judgement will tomorrow's children pass on our moral leadership?

The problem is grave; the solution is complex. Economic development must be accelerated. More food must be found for the mounting, underfed millions. Yet these things are not enough. In addition, concludes the National Academy of Sciences, we must "achieve universal acceptance of the desirability of planning and controlling family size." Voluntary fertility control alone will not magically erase the troubles of mankind. But it is a necessary ingredient in any humane design to raise world living standards.

The time is now

Even while the crisis deepens, the climate for dealing with it—the weather of understanding and tolerance—improves. National leaders speak out. All faiths agree on the principles of family planning, and are working together to resolve their differences about the means. A new Gallup Poll shows that 78 percent of U.S. Catholics now believe "birth control information should be available to anyone who wants it."

Each year more nations want to help in curbing population growth. Each day more parents want to limit family size. Our War on Poverty, through local initiative in a growing list of places, is incorporating birth control assistance. Here and abroad, Planned Parenthood is spreading the message of birth control to scores of millions. The number of U.S. families served by Planned Parenthood has doubled in the last five years

All these efforts raise brave banners of progress. But against the towering backdrop of global need, they are pathetically inadequate. They must be expanded, multiplied. We must enable much more widespread use of the best voluntary conception control methods now at hand—while accelerating the quest for still better, more widely useful techniques.

Private agencies and private doctors cannot do the whole job. As John D. Rockefeller 3rd has emphasized, "Population problems are so great, so important, so ramified and often so immediate, that only government, supported and inspired by private initiative, can attack them on the scale required."

We can all help in 4 ways:

1. By standing up to be counted—in support of governmental as well as private efforts to limit world population growth through voluntary fertility control.

2. By urging all public health and welfare agencies to provide birth control help to those who want it.

3. By urging expansion of research with government funds to perfect a variety of simple fertility control methods acceptable to all faiths.

4. By urging our government to assist other nations, on their request, with birth control knowledge and supplies.

This month Planned Parenthood-World Population opens its 1965 Nationwide Campaign throughout the United States. Planned Parenthood is the only organization dedicated expressly to teaching, dispensing and improving birth control everywhere. It offers family planning services, with methods acceptable to all faiths, in more than 100 U.S. cities and 36 other nations. One gift to Planned Parenthood advances the birth control cause around the world. Your contribution goes far beyond its dollar value—it is your personal endorsement of the conviction that fertility control is essential to world peace and prosperity.

TO DISTRIBUTE FOLDER

On Heart Disease. Volunteers in the Heart Fund Drive will distribute a leaflet to Princeton resident as a part of an effort to educate the public on heart disease.

Under the direction of Thomas L. Brophy Jr. and John H. Goida, the volunteers will also be working to collect funds for national and local research. Archie G. Lummis is serving as treasurer.

The American Heart Association is the overall sponsor of the campaign. The area goal is $10,000, of which nearly half will go to the national foundation. Another 15 percent will be used by the state and about 40 percent will aid the Mercer County heart disease prevention effort.

The information leaflet is entitled, "Are You Risking A Heart Attack?" The folder outlines safeguards to reduce the risk of a heart attack and indicates when a physical checkup is necessary.

MRS. SILVESTER NAMED

By Youth Employment Unit. Mrs. Lionel V. Silvester Jr. was elected president of the Youth Employment Service at the annual meeting held at the YM-YWCA. She succeeds Mrs. Rowan Boone.

Also elected are: John Lasley, 1st vice-president; Mrs. David Parnes, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. William Humes, secretary, and Mrs. Douglas Langston, treasurer.

New directors are George Petrillo, Mrs. Seymour Bogdonoff, William Hilgendorff, Roger Carrington, Mrs. Raymond Male, Bernard Cooke, George Warren and Thomas Seraydarian.

Mrs. Parnes, chairman of the office staff, reported that 1,492 job orders were received by YES last year; 65% were filled. Of these 37% were for household help, including maintenance and baby-sitting.

YES, located in Dorothea House, 120 John Street, is open to young people age 14 and attending 9th grade through age 19, who live, or attend school, in Princeton. It is staffed Monday through Friday from 1 to 5 by volunteers.

Members of the 1965 Board of directors are: Mrs. A. A. Bishop, Mrs. William Humes, Lewis S. Kraft, Mrs. H. Gilbert Neal, Mrs. George T. Reynolds, Mrs. L. V. Silvester, Jr. George Warren, Samuel Bahadurian, Miss Florence Burke, Bernard Cooke, John Lasley. Also, Dr. John Mekenna, Mrs. David Parnes, Mrs. Robert Schwenker, Howard B. Waxwood Jr., Mrs. Seymour Bogdonoff, Rogers Carrington, William Hilgendorff, Jr., Mrs. Raymond Male, George Petrillo, Mrs. Douglas Langston, Thomas Seraydarian.

FAMILY AGENCY TO OPEN

In Hightstown. A Hightstown branch of the Family Service Agency of Princeton which will serve residents of Hightstown, East and West Windsor, Cranbury and nearby communities, is scheduled to open about February 1. Howard Klank, vice-president in Hightstown for the Princeton United Fund, said, in making the announcement, that 21 families and individuals from the Hightstown area had received counseling from the Princeton office in the past year.

Office space in the Cunningham Pharmacy Building, 106 Main Street, has been made available by Milton Cunningham, former mayor of Hightstown, and the Youth Employment Service. Family Service hopes that other Hightstown organizations will contribute volunteers and equipment to the joint office enterprise.

For its Hightstown project, the agency will assign one of its three trained social workers for a regular schedule of hours each week. Family Service's chief role is that of counsellor to people with marital, emotional or financial problems.

Representatives of the agency who have arranged for the new office are Bernard Barenholtz chairman of the Family Service board of directors, Miss Katherine F. Lenrod, Mrs. C. D. Perkins, board members, and Mrs. John H. Trimble, executive director of the agency.

HEART FUND VOLUNTEERS: John H. Goida, Thomas L. Brophy Jr., and Archie G. Lummis plan a community-wide campaign to raise $10,000 for the Heart Fund. Story, this page.

TO DELIVER DIRECTORY

Starting This Week. The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company will begin delivery of the 1965 Princeton directory on Saturday.

The cover of the new phone book is olive green with seven illustrations drawn by Charles McVeker of Princeton. The sketches depict typical New Jersey scenery from lake and seashore resorts to industrial and research complexes in the Northeast and Delaware Valley sections of the state.

A total of 25,000 directories will be delivered. An increase of 149 listings from last year brings the total to 29,874.

The directory will be hung from a resident's front door if he is not at home. A newly-designed plastic sling will be used to protect the phone book.

Directories of areas outside Princeton may be outlined by calling the New Jersey Bell Telephone business offices. There is no charge for the additional directories.

COOKIE SALE TO END

Ten Troops Participating. The area Girl Scout Cookie Sale, in which 10 Princeton troops are taking part, will end on Saturday. Some 200 girls have been participating in the project.

The cookies may be purchased at either of two booths at Bamberger's or at Nevius Voorhees. The varieties of cookies on sale include mint

40 Year's Experience

WE ARE NOT A SOCIETY OF INFORMERS," say Lee Mogland in defense of those air cadets who tolerated cheating at the Air Force Academy but did not report it. For more on the cheating scandal, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: Should the air cadets who tolerated cheating be judged as guilty as those who actually cheated?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Andrew Holmes-Siedle, 159 Carter Road, physicist for RCA: I don't think so, no. While it should be on their colnscience, I don't feel the penalty should be the same. I think there is a distinction between tolerating cheating and actually doing it.

Mrs. Alan Haskins, Lakeview Avenue, Kingston, medical aide: Yes, I do definitely. I feel those who tolerate cheating are just as guilty. It is illegal that way in their honor code. They're cheating themselves, in my opinion, if they watch someone else cheat and do not report it.

Michael Tice, Campbell Hall, University junior: I believe they should, because an honor code can't work unless it works both ways. Only when an honor code is strong will it work. At the University, we have no trouble because our honor code has been here so long that it is practically unquestioned. It's a deeply-rooted tradition. Cheating just isn't done. But in order for it to become a tradition it has to be kept strong.

Mrs. Coe Kuriyama, 27 Wiggins Street, secretary: No, not at all. If, in a group one person does something, it doesn't make the entire group guilty. Cheating is an individual happenstance.

Robert Jaffe, 1942 Hall, University freshman: Yes, they signed an honor code before entering the academy. It's the honor code, a cheater and a tolerator should be judged the same. You feel sorry for the tolerator but what are you going to do?

Dale LeCount, 58 Stanworth Lane, admissions ofiee, Princeton University: Yes, I think they are essentially the same and those who did tolerate cheating realize it themselves because most are withdrawing voluntarily from the academy instead of coming up for a court martial.

Lee Mogland, 24 Witherspoon Street, owner of The Fabric Center: No, because we are not a society of people who inform on one another. We have been brought up to look upon the spy and the informer as a most reprehensible person.

Miss Barbara Kepner, 172 Nassau Street, typist, Firestone Library: Yes, I think so. There is wide-spread cheating in most schools, and most students, I'd say, tolerate it. But even though it is taken for granted, I feel cheating is wrong from any standpoint and that includes tolerating those who cheat.

James Hejduk, Westminster Choir College junior: Yes, I think so because that is part of the military honor system. If you made an exception to the ruling, you would have to make an exception to the people who cheated in the first place. If you except those who tolerated cheating, you would only add more fire to the case of those who cheated. They would start looking for all kinds of new loopholes. I believe an honor system should be enforced to the letter. Morally, there is nothing else they can do but let them go.

Mrs. Leslie Davis, Millstone River Apartments: I think they should be let out. I don't think the tolerators were as guilty as those who cheated, but I don't think it is good to keep them in the Academy. It's too important. Absolute trustworthiness is necessary in any officer.

Ann Glasburgh, Ridgeview Circle, student Mt. Holyoke College: Well, no. Of course in an honor system the responsibility lies with each student to maintain it. However, I think there are conflicts within each person who witnesses such an incident. On the one hand, they have a feeling of loyalty to their fellow students; on the other, they see the necessity of upholding all the stipulations of their honor system. Also, I think the first duty of a student who sees someone cheating is to talk to the offender and try to get them to report themselves. There has to be a certain amount of time. I think this is what may have happened at the Air Force Academy: those who cheated were not given enough time to report themselves. I don't feel tolerators should be treated the same because it's not as if they were accomplises to a crime: they just happened to be witnesses.

Vernon Hoagland Sr., 49 Clay Street: Yes, I feel they should be. It isn't the sort of attitude you would want to see assumed by defenders of our country. They should be taught to be alert to the weaknesses of other men. That is their duty: to be strong and upright and truthful. They pledge that when they take that oath. Those who tolerate cheating have broken that oath.

FUND RAISERS TO MEET

For Annual Reports. The United Community Fund will hold its annual meeting Wednesday, February 24, in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn.

President Robert P. Popino will report to the fund raisers along with Bernard Barenholt, the campaign chairman, and Ralph Mason, chairman of the nominating committee. There will be a staged presentation of the current community survey of needs and services in the areas of health, welfare and recreation.

Phillip Minis, chairman of the survey steering committee, is the author of the script of the dramatization. The organization will also present the Gerard H. Lambert Community Award and the Princeton Council of Community Services Award.

All interested residents are invited to attend the meeting. Reservations may be made by calling the United Fund at 924-5382.

Any committee to the annual campaign has the right to vote in the election of officers and trustees which will also take place at the meeting. The fund serves Princeton, Kingston, Rocky Hill, Lower South Brunswick, Plainsboro, Cranbury, Lawrenceville, West Windsor, East Windsor, Hightstown, Montgomery Township and supplying areas of Hopewell and Pennington.

TOPIC: UNEMPLOYMENT

At League Meetings. The League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community will discuss unemployment at the January unit meetings.

The discussions will initiate a study the league is conducting to evaluate policies and programs providing equality of opportunity in education and employment. Visitors are welcome to attend the meetings.

On Tuesday, meetings will be held at the Methodist Church at 9:30 a.m. and at 8:15 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Frank Reiche, 87 Longview Drive. On Wednesday, the discussions will take place at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Henry Broad of 41 Pardoe Road and at 8:15 p.m. in the home of Mrs. William Angoff, 19 Meadowbrook Drive.

A meeting of the League's West Windsor Unit will be held Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Daniel Rosner, 13 Colonial Avenue, Princeton Junction. The Montgomery Township unit will meet Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at the Belle Mead branch of the First National Bank of Somerset County.

CAPTAIN ELECTED

By Borough Fire Police. J. Vincent Gallagher has been elected captain of the Princeton Fire Police, a unit of the Borough fire department.

Mr. Gallagher is a member of Engine Company No. 1, Arthur V. Van Horn of Mercer Engine Company No. 3 installed the new captain along with other new officers.

They included Earl Wilbur of Hook and Ladder Company as first lieutenant and Conrad Gulbrodt of Mercer Engine Company No. 3 as second lieutenant. The fire police unit consists of 26 men, 12 from each of the Borough's three companies.

FATHERS WELCOME TOO

To Pre-Natal Classes. The next series of eight pre-natal classes at Princeton Hospital will start Monday at 7:30 p.m. and the hospital has reminded all prospective parents that fathers are as welcome as mothers, if they care to attend.

The classes will be held for eight weeks, 7:30 to 9 p.m. each Monday, with exercise classes from 6:30 to 7:30 for mothers who want them.

Mrs. Ruth Adams of the Visiting Nurse Association will, as the instructor, and her course will include both prenatal care and the care of the baby. Classes are sponsored jointly by the hospital, the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross and the Visiting Nurse Association.

Mothers may register through their physicians or by calling the Red Cross at 924-2404. Registration may also be made at the first class session Monday night. The class is open to all women who live in Princeton or the surrounding communities.

DRIVE TO BEGIN

To Collect Medical Supplies. The Hightstown Junior Chamber of Commerce will begin on Monday a campaign to collect donations of medical supplies, soap, blankets and clothing.

The supplies will be used by Dr. James Turpin in his medical mission in the Far East. The campaign, which includes a fund drive, is in cooperation with other Jaycee chapters aimed at aiding refugees and underprivileged persons in Hong Kong and Viet Nam.

Dr. Turpin organized the non-sectarian project. He has established four clinics in Viet Nam and Hong Kong serving nearly a half million persons. The drive will continue through February 19.

FATHERS INVITED

Their Day at Riverside. Riverside School will hold its Father's Day Friday beginning at 9.

Class rooms will be open to visitors for more than an hour after which Dr. John J. McKenna, superintendent of schools, will be among the guests at a coffee hour. Others who will be present are Mrs. Alice Packard, school principal, David Nydick, assistant superintendent, and Louis Cicchini, art teacher at Riverside.

The next PTA meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 at Riverside. Prof. Charles Smith of Princeton University's psychology department will discuss his study of Township school children conducted last year.

NEW NEIGHBOR: Dow Jones & Co. is now occupying this facility on U. S. 1 in South Brunswick Township. An "open house" is scheduled Saturday in the main building, a three-story, 80,000 square foot structure.

BUSINESS In Princeton

PUBLIC IS WELCOME

To Dow Jones Open House. Dow Jones and Company will hold an open house Saturday from 11 to 2:30 at its newly-opened research and administration facility. The two buildings are located in South Brunswick facility. The two buildings are located in South Brunswick Township on a 107-acre site east of Route 1.

Dow Jones is the publisher of The Wall Street Journal, the third largest daily in the nation; Barron's National Business and Financial Weekly; and The National Observer, a weekly newspaper established in 1962. The firm also compiles daily Wall Street stock averages.

The open house will be held in the main building, a three-story structure with 80,000 square feet of space. In addition to an engineering department, the building houses circulation sales, personnel, purchasing, accounting and executive departments.

Each department will be open to the general public who will be given fact sheets to explain the functions of the various aspects of the facility. Officers will be on hand to greet the public.

Refreshments will be served at the grand opening and copies of Dow Jones publications will be distributed. Photographs will be taken of guests in a mock-up of the front page of The National Observer, making it appear as though the picture appeared on the front page of the weekly newspaper. Some 250 of Dow Jones' more than 2,200 employees will staff the South Brunswick installation.

ESTATE FORUM PLANNED

At Princeton Inn. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company will sponsor a forum Wednesday, February 17, to consider the planning of estates for members of the medical profession. The conference, to be held at the Princeton Inn from 8 to 10 p.m., will be co-sponsored by the Equitable Life Insurance Society of the United States.

J. Taylor Woodward, senior vice-president of the Princeton bank, will preside at the forum. He will detail the bank's role in estate planning.

Henry H. Bray of South Orange, an Equitable agent, will speak on life insurance and its relation to estate planning. The third speaker will be Harold Kamens, a tax attorney from Newark, who will discuss tax advantages of lifetime gifts, life insurance trusts and other related matters.

CONFERENCE SCHEDULED

On Computer Reprogramming. Applied Data Research, Inc. of Route 206 in Princeton is arranging a three-day conference on computer reprogramming to be held at the Nassau Inn in June.

The symposium, co-sponsored by the Association for Computing Machinery, will begin on June 1. The conference will be aimed at solving problems associated with reprogramming and will include panel discussions and the presentation of papers.

Small informal seminars will meet throughout the three-day period. Applied Data Research is a firm of computer consultants established five years ago.

KEYPUNCH TAUGHT

At Princeton High. The business of teaching business at Princeton High School has reached the data processing level, and the Business Education Department now has 40 boys and girls who will emerge, in the next one, two and three years, into the Princeton labor market equipped with data processing skills.

Richard Borger, head of the department, and William Bux, teacher of machine courses, have worked out a curriculum with the enthusiastic support of key firms in the keypunch field.

This is the second year for keypunch at Princeton High, and there are two key punch machines crammed into a corner of a classroom. Mr. Bux hopes to have a 402 and a sorter by the end of this academic year, and he mentions, with some pride, the fact that Princeton High is the only high school in Mercer County offering keypunch training.

Traditionally, students in the business education course are divided into three sections: this year, 15 have elected "clerical," nine are "secretarial" and 16 are "accounting." Mr. Bux will expose all 40 of them to keypunch work, but the accounting students will get the most intensive training.

Companies Help. In their keypunch work, these high school boys and girls do job distribution, payrolls and accounts receivable invoices. Mr. Bux hopes, in addition, to give the students some knowledge of wiring panels and possibly, programming.

In setting up the data processing curriculum, Mr. Bux and Mr. Borger had the cooperation of McGraw-Hill and ORC, both of whom gathered the material which the students use in their training—the "data" that gets "processed."

McGraw-Hill also helped Princeton High to develop the course, and assisted in training Mr. Bux. Lewis C. Bowers, the construction firm, is the latest to join with Princeton High. And Fulmer and Bowers is going to help Mr. Bux set up training aids on the 402 and the sorter, in accounts receivable and payroll work.

Free Aid to Students

Snelling and Snelling, 20 Nassau Street employment agency, has planned a program to help students find summer work in businesses and industries.

Murray Leshner, manager of the firm, said the service would be offered free of charge. A bulletin board listing various job opportunities will be set up in the agency's office and students will be invited to consult it.

In addition, the firm will distribute free of charge to each visitor a booklet on how, where and when to seek summer employment. Princeton area firms are urged to contact Snelling and Snelling to have their names listed.

GOTTA DO MY HOMEWORK: Class assignments are fun when they can be done on a real honest-to-goodness keypunch. These boys and girls are enrolled in Princeton High School's Business Education Department and they are learning the ins and outs of data processing. program," Mr. Bux explains. "I took a three-day course in keypunch at IBM in Philadelphia. Mr. Borger and I also had two weeks basic machine operation and wiring last summer at the IBM school in Poughkeepsie. That's IBM's education center where high school teachers can learn about data processing, and there were teachers there from all over the country and even Canada."

"McGraw-Hill has been a wonderful help to us," Mr. Bux continued, "they sent their chief keypunch operator down from New York three days a week to help us work out a course of study."

After school, Mr. Bux worked as a regular employee at both McGraw-Hill and ORC, bringing back to Princeton High his new-found practical knowledge. He has had three years of experience with machines, and his "jobs" with these firms helped to augment and strengthen the theory he already knew.

Training Students. At Princeton High, there are two clusters of four desks each, where boys and girls train on calculating machines. There is a separate data-processing area and a separate work area for electric typewriters and other business machines, so arranged to be as much like a real office as possible.

This year, Mr. Borger and Mr. Bux, hope for a separate office machines room, away from the typing department.

Business Education would like to have enough space and equipment to offer its courses to boys and girls who are not specifically enrolled in Business Education. If other students could elect "Office Machines" and "Data Processing," the high school's vocational program would be strengthened and students in the academic course would have a chance to broaden their experience. It all hinges on space, space, space.

Princeton High's equipment includes such non-listing machines as Monroe, Burroughs and Friden, and listing machines from National Cash Register (the bookkeeping machine) and Divisumma. In addition, there are Ediphones, Dictaphones, mimeograph machines 35 electric typewriters and manual typewriters. The keypunch machines are, of course, on rental from IBM.

All but one of the trained students was placed last year, and all 21 boys and girls in the general business education work-study program continued as permanent employees.

At present, a graduate of the keypunch work is at McGraw-Hill working into the advanced phases of data processing, and two graduates are full-time at ORC.

The data processing program at Princeton High grew from a survey made in 1961 of long-range needs of employers in Princeton. The high school drew up a list of 27 area orgsolutions with data processing installations, organizations ranging from the office of the Hopewell Board of Education to RCA from Hightstown Rug to Forrestal and Princeton University.

TO CONSTRUCT POOL

For Brooktree Community. A Sylvan pool which can accommodate more than 400 people will be constructed in Brooktree East in Cranbury in time for use next summer, in addition to the pool, there will be a recreation area covering four acres for use by the community residents.

To be located on Dutch Neck and Oak Creek Roads, the recreation center will permit area residents to avoid the time-consuming drive to shore resort areas, according to a director of the community project. The pool will be Y-shaped with a surface area of 4,800 square feet.

The pool will be divided into three areas, one for swimming and racing, a second portion for diving and the third for wading. The wading pool will have an area of 315 square feet and will be separated from the other areas.

A Red Cross lifeguard from the physical education department of the Hightstown school system will be hired and private swimming lessons will be available. Membership in the recreation center will be open to all residents of Brooktree.

EMR GIVEN CONTRACT

For Navy Converters. The Princeton division of Electro-Mechanical Research, Inc. has been awarded a "substantial" contract for non-contacting magnetic shaft encoders by the U.S. Naval Ammunition Depot, Crane, Ind.

The analog-to-digital converter which will be supplied to the Navy is the new EMR Model 645A, according to E. W. Wallick, Princeton manager. It is one of the most sophisticated of the encoding devices which are as necessary to computers controlling large mechanical systems as eyes and ear are to humans.

Magnetic non-contact techniques are utilized by the 645A to read out the angular positions of a rotating shaft. It contains both a complete encoder and readout circuitry within the same small housing.

FEBRUARY ART CALENDAR

Exhibits Are Varied. Through February 26, The Present Day Club's monthly exhibition is of drawings, paintings and watercolors by James Graves of Princeton.

February 10 to March 8: At McCarter Theater, the Princeton Art Association sponsors an exhibition, "Optical Art," featuring the work of New York artists Henry Pearson from the Stephen Radich Gallery; Max Levinson from the Kornblee Gallery; Forsythe from the Blanchini Gallery; three Rutgers artists from the Amel Gallery—John Goodyear, Tsai Wen-Ying and Reginald Neal; and Darby Bannard of Princeton. Open to the public daily from 10 to 5.

Friday, February 12: The third and last of the Metropolitan Museum Art Lectures sponsored by the Princeton Art Association will be held at the Stuart Country Day School at 8 p.m. The subject this week is "After Impressionism: Cezanne, Gauguin, Van Gogh."

Sunday, February 14. At 8 p.m., the YWCA presents Gregorio Prestopino and his film, "Harlem Wednesday" with lecture and discussion, to be followed by a reception for the artist. (Individual tickets, $2; Groups of six or more, $1.50; Students, $1.

February 15 to March 7: Gallery 100 exhibits work by Gregorio Prestopino.

Present Day Club Show. During the month of February the Present Day Club is exhibiting drawings, paintings and watercolors by James Graves of Princeton. Mr. Graves studied at the University of North Carolina, with Zoltan Hecht of the Museum of Modern Art and with Joseph Hirsch of the Art Student's League.

In recent years, he has devoted himself entirely to painting and has shown in Cerrillos, New Mexico, at the Tiffany Gallery and in Washington, D. C. His exhibition at the Present Day Club previews his show at the Ware Gallery in Wilmington, Delaware, in March.

The subjects and atmosphere of his work have been largely derived from the South and the Southwest where he has lived and worked. His drawings are often simple, forthright statements and, as such, carry well.

He has handled perspective and forms in "Grain Elevators, Conway, Texas" so as to communicate directly a feeling of the sky, flatness of the area. In a more broken "sketchier" style and with nice characterization are two drawings of an old house and church.

Going one step further than black and white into color, the watercolor "Church Tree" is not only suggestive but backed up by good design and touches of color. Here he seems to have incorporated the best of his concentration on line, composition and a break-away from utter realism. With brief-est indication of leaves and branches, enough emphasis on arches and stonework for a sense of solidity, and sufficient color, the whole picture is pleasingly complete.

In painting still life, Mr. Graves has experimented with objects in composition, color objects in composition, color and various ways of applying the pigment. Most natural in construction, clearest in color and with a nice feeling of paint quality is "Daisies."

In painting figures, his use of color seems less clear than his feeling for the subject. By experimenting in so many different techniques and media and with a variety of subject matter, Mr. Graves is developing towards his own individual expression.

The meeting honored members of the President's Council, composed of the top ten agents of the company. Mr. Zwaaf is with the Marvin Gandelman Agency in Trenton.

Miss Greta L. Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Ford, 32 Bolsam Lane, has received honors for her work in the first semester at Pine Manor Junior College, Wellesley, Mass.

Lawrence R. Caruso, Rocky Hill magistrate and house legal counsel for Princeton University, has been named secretary-treasurer of the Somerset County Magistrates Association. Mr. Caruso lives at 31 Linden Lane.

Miss Patricia E. Brackney is a member of the first group of freshman to enter Mount Holyoke College at mid-year in the college's 128-year history. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Brackney of 305 Dodds Lane and a graduate of Princeton High School, she spent the first semester studying at Georgetown Washington University. Last summer, she wrote the PHS Choir's letter "Dear Princeton" for TOWN TOPICS during the European tour.

Jaycees Plan Art Show

The Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its sixth annual art exhibit on Saturday and Sunday, March 20 and 21, at Miss Fine's School.

The works will be hung on Friday evening simultaneous with registration .The show will be open to the public from 10 to 8 on Saturday and from 10 to 6 on Sunday.

A professional jury, as yet unchosen, will award three engraved silver bowls to the outstanding amateur entries. No awards will be given to the professional artists who are exhibiting their works. Sales will be made at the display which is under the direction of Thomas D. Dennison.

QUEEN OF HEARTS CONTESTANTS: Miss Valerie Labedz of Neshanic (left) and Mrs. Bertha A. Thall of Hillsborough are among the entrants in the annual Queen of Hearts Contest sponsored by the Somerset County Heart Association. Votes (at 10 cents each) are being tabulated, with the winner to be announced at coronation ball on February 26.

WHO'S TO LOSE?

Possible Upsets Lurk Ahead. As the 1965 Ivy Basketball League race rolls toward its logical climax on the weekend of February 26 and 27, when Cornell plays Penn and Princeton on the road in back-to-back contests, the possibility of a wholly illogical upset of one of the three front-runners should not be overlooked.

The tight Ivy races of the past decade (no less than four of the last ten have been decided by playoffs, with Princeton figuring in all of them) have frequently been radically altered by the ability of a mediocre second division quintet to belt one of the temporarily somnolent favorites. Such factors as home-court advantages and the four-points-per-minute pace that basketball normally follows make somewhat more prone to upsets than football or hockey.

In the ten days leading up to the first of the crucial games that Cornell must play at the Palestra and in Dillon Gym, there are five contests involving the three front-runners which just might rearrange the league standings in surprising fashion. Three involve the first-place Ithacans. They take at Yale Friday night, travel on to Providence to meet Brown Saturday and then take to the road again Tuesday to face Columbia in New York.

LEADERS' REMAINING GAMES

CORNELL: At home, 2: Feb. 19, Yale; 20, Brown. Away, 5: Feb. 13, Yale; 19, Brown, 16, Columbia; 26, Penn; 27, Princeton.

PENN: At home, 4: Feb. 12, Dartmouth; 13, Harvard; 26, Cornell; 27, Columbia. Away, 3: Feb. 19, Harvard; 20, Dartmouth; March 1, Princeton.

PRINCETON: At home, 5: Feb. 12, Harvard; 13, Dartmouth; 26, Columbia; 27, Cornell; March 1, Penn. Away, 2: Feb. 19, Dartmouth; 20, Harvard.

The schedule, actually, is now beginning to work against Cornell, five of whose seven triumphs have been recorded in its big Barton Hall. Of its remaining seven, five are on the road, and impressive though the tall Red team has been in winning its last 11 in a row, the odds are less than even that it will defeat Yale, Brown, Columbia, Penn and Princeton all away from home.

Tigers Could Lose, Too. While the four games in which Princeton and Penn are involved prior to the climactic weekend should all come their way, each might run into difficulty at Cambridge. Harvard can be pesky on its own court so much so that the Tigers lost there last winter, 88 to 82.

The Crimson has been hampered this season by the fact that its counter-attraction to Bill Bradley in the scholar-athlete department, Rhodes Scholar Merle McClung, is markedly below form. An All-Ivy choice as a junior when he averaged 20 points a game, he has been inconsistent in his last few contests and on the swing to Columbia and Cornell last weekend totalled just 18 points.

Harvard's chief threat in the game in Dillon Gym Friday night will be Keith Sedlacek, currently runner-up to Bill Bradley in the Ivy scoring race with 181 points for a 25.5 average. Bradley's 20 against Brown and 28 against Yale lowered his average from 35.2 to 32.9, but he has 239 points after seven games, a figure which keeps him well within range of his own record of 464 set last winter.

McClung and Barry Williams at 6-5 are all the height Harvard has. Captain Leo Scully, sophomore Gene Dresler and letterman Bill Fegley are others who will see most of the action for the Crimson.

Dartmouth Is in Trouble. When Coach Doggie Julian brings his Dartmouth quintet to Dillon Gym Saturday, the Indians will be looking for their first Ivy victory in 27 games. Once the proud victor in seven straight Ivy races (1938-'44) and triumphant again in three of four years in the late '50's, the Indians have not topped the .500 mark since 1960.

A 6-5 sophomore, Pete Dunlop, has been producing well for the Green, scoring 21 against both Cornell and Columbia last weekend, while 6-4 senior Dave Blaine also is frequently in double figures. The Indians are, however, strictly without ability on defense. In their two games last week, they became the first Ivy team in history to have more than 100 points scored against it on successive nights. Cornell set an Ivy record in pouring in 110 on Friday, Columbia almost duplicating the feat with 108 the following night.

Two Firsts for Bradley. The Tigers won both their road games last week, defeating Brown, 69-49, and Yale, 67-62, despite two precedents in Bill Bradley's ever-fascinating career. At Providence he passed off so frequently that he scored only three points in the first half; at New Haven, he fell on a breakaway just after engineering a steal and the four minutes he sat out in the first half marked the first time he had missed action with no injury.

The two contests had much in common. In both, the home teams led briefly in early action but saw the Tigers move to a comfortable although hardly insurmountable lead by half time. It was 30-23 for Princeton at Providence and 43-34 in the visitors' favor in the televised game at New Haven.

Brown then continued to fade, but with Bradley hobbled by the severely bruised thigh, Yale cut its deficit to three points (56-53) with 8:53 remaining. The Tiger captain then teamed with sophomore Ed Hummer on three plays which resulted in six quick points for Princeton and when Yale hit a cold spell that lasted for almost six minutes, the visitors were home free.

Three players each hit double figures once on the trip to aid Bradley. Against Brown, junior Bob Hazlow, fed repeatedly by Bradley, connected on seven field goals and two fouls for his 16 points—all in the first half. At New Haven, Hummer and Robby Brown each had 11 points, but the fact remains that the Tigers came into the home stretch of the Ivy race with no player who has take-charge qualities when Bradley—who isn't super-human despite all that he has accomplished—needs a bit of help.

BIG THREE GAMES AHEAD

For Hungry Skaters. Having played the bulk of its Ivy League schedule against the teams battling for the title, Princeton's hockey team is hopeful of earning its first points in upcoming games against Harvard and Yale. It will be a difficult task, however, for both contests will be played away from home—Harvard on Saturday at Cambridge and Yale the following Saturday at New Haven.

Like Princeton, both these Big Three teams are below the .500 mark for the season—a strictly unusual situation for Harvard. The Crimson has won only a third of its games (5-10) and has yet to score an Ivy victory after defeats at the hands of Brown, Cornell and Dartmouth. Yale (6-8) is somewhat better off in the standings, having defeated Cornell twice—the last time in a woolly 8-7 overtime fray at Ithaca.

Cornell and Brown, both liberally stacked with Canadians, topped Princeton in Baker Rink last week. The respective scores were 5-3 and 5-1, and there was little doubt in the minds of those who saw both games that Brown was markedly the better of the two invading teams.

Three good lines-one of them centered by Bob Gaudreau, who is versatile enough to have been an all-Ivy defenseman last winter—give the Bruins a constant scoring threat. Goalie Dave Ferguson is skilled if not spectacular, and the defense is superior to any team in the league save Dartmouth.

Brown moved slowly to its eventual one-sided triumph, leading by 1-0 at the end of the first round and 2-0 20 minutes later. Three more goals followed in the third period against a tiring Princeton squad, which averted a shutout at 18:50 when Gordy Park scored against the victors' reserve goalie.

Princeton had a 2-1 bulge on Cornell midway through the second period, but the Ithacan's greater depth eventually told the story. The Tigers trailed by only 4-3 with four minutes left, but a pressing five-man attack yielded to a breakaway that produced the visitors' final goal.

Mike Spence, Howard McMorris and Mike Peterman scored for Princeton, with Steve Cook getting credit for two assists. McMorris' return after a two-week absence with a nose infection bolstered the defense in welcome fashion.

BOWLING NOTES

Two Leagues Tied. The Elks and the Reformers were tied with 20 points apiece in the Nassau League when last week's action ended, while a three-way deadlock existed in the Tri-County Firemen's League. Mercer Engine Co. No. 3, Kingston and Lawrenceville were tied in first place with 12 points.

Nassau Del and Nassau Liquors both had 19 points to stay near the leaders in the Nassau League, followed by Bear Brook with 18 and Grover Lumber and Thorne's both with 15. A 621 series (217-243-161) by Bill Kiefer paced the scoring in this league; these scores among the high single games: Ed Duncan, 223; Bob Sculerati, 216; Bill Parke, 213; Dick Thomasie and Frank Cawley, 212; Andy Drummond, 210; Ed Dayton, 206.

Elmer Wilson's 613 series with 236 the top game paced the Firemen, who also posted these scores: Bob Richardson, 219; Bip Davison, 217; Jack Maple and John Burke, 216; Carmen Fanicaro, 211; Jim Wilbur, 204; Joe Cavanaugh, 202; and Bob Beyer, 200.

Turney's edged closer to Pipps Pro Shop in the Three-Man Classic with 34½ to 33 for the leaders. The P.A.C. Following with 33½, while Johnson Electric and Hightstown Trust both have 28 and Lahey's, 24.

Bill Dumble's 254 paced him to a 632 series, while Joe Baldino bowled a three-game 596. Leading single scores were Val Rannillo, 223; Elmer Pertanoni, 216; Joe Trani, 207; Ed Hughes, 205; Hal Frazee, 203; Nick Sculerati and Bill Cavanaugh, 202; and Al Hibbard, 200.

In the B League, the Key Shop leads with 22, while Pete and Mike's has 18. Others: Balestrieri, 16; Smith Book-

HEIBERGER GOES HIGHER: Pete Heiberger, captain of the Princeton High Little Tigers, goes up for a jumper in the fourth period against Steinert. Although PHS lost, Pete emerged as the game's top scorer with 20 points, marking the third time in his last four outings he has hit 20 or more. (Randell Hoagdorn Photo)

Bob Seulerati's 650, including games of 213, 235 and 202, ranks as one of the best series of the season. Jim Kahny came up with a three-game score of 610, while Ed Dayton was credited with a 599 and Dick Fowler a 589. Bill Whatley's 224 was among the best single games in this league.

Jefferson Plumbing paces the Business Women's League with 10, followed by Smith Bookbinding, 9; Decker's Dairy, 7; Nassau-Conover, Merritt Insurance, Thorne's, Irene's Day Nursery and Maul Electric, all with 6. Marie Pipero's 182 was the top score, followed by 171 for Vera Buchele.

In the YMCA Blue Angels League for 15-year old boys, Triple C has been replaced in first place by the Wildcats, 27 to 26. The Sharks defeated the Tigers in three games to move out of the cellar, 30 to 29. Chris Wright bowled a 174 game, while Craig Donaldson had 134 and Ken Grob, 131.

PHS SLIDE CONTINUES

As Five Games Remain. Color the future of the present Princeton High School basketball team grey.

Although the Little Tigers have captured a spot in the NJIAA tournament, the future appears bleak for them, not only in the tournament but for the remainder of the regular season as well.

With five contests to go, it is evident the Little Tigers are going to have to snarl and claw like their real-life counterparts if they hope to avoid a losing season. Currently they are 7-9.

In its last nine starts, PHS has won only two. Both victories were at the expense of Ewing whose season this winter is noteworthy only for its lopsided 2-13 record.

The Blue and White will start its final two weeks of play on enemy ground. On Friday afternoon at 3:45, it travels to Hightstown to oppose Peddie. Highland Park will be the site for a Tuesday evening contest.

Then the Little Tigers will return home for their final three games against Hamilton Asbury Park and Franklin. The difficulty PHS will have of finishing with a winning mark is underlined when one recalls that its final three opponents already own convincing victories over coach Tony Borzok's Blue and White. And nobody but the most diehard optimist believes that Princeton—even bolstered as it is by the return of Colin Leitch—is going to upend Hamilton on its home court.

Steinert Wins, 63-51. On two occasions during Friday evening's contest here with Steinert, PHS treated its followers to a display of fine basketball. The first came in the opening minutes when artful shots by Pete Heiberger, Mike Underwood and Colin Leitch pushed the home team into a short-lived lead.

Then for a short span in the final period, Roger Madden suddenly hit on three quick field goals—all long ones—and two free throws for eight points to narrow Steinert's lead to 61-47. The stands came alive with rythmic stamping and chants of "Go, Tigers, Go" but the resurgence died as quickly as it had begun.

Unfortunately for Borzok, these outbursts were the only islands in a sea of lackluster play on the part of his team. Heiberger, playing again after being sidelined last week by the flu, was Princeton's most effective offensive players, hitting for a game-high 20. He was assisted mainly by Wilbur Hines and Mike Underwood who added ten each.

Colin Leitch, playing before home-town followers for the first time since his reinstatement, blunted any effectiveness he may have had by piling up four personal fouls before the first period was half over. The over-anxious Colin sat out the rest of the first half and half of the final period, eventually fouling out. He tallied four points.

To give the Little Tigers their due they were up against some solid play by the visiting Spartans. Steinert hit consistently from underneath and from the outside. Moreover, it controlled the boards to a greater degree than the losers and this combination paved the way to its ninth win in 16 tries.

FLYING FISH DIVIDE

In Swimming Competition. The Princeton YMCA Flying Fish boys team defeated the Shore Area Y, 113-75, but lost to Hackensack, 112-73. The team's record is now 8 wins and 3 losses.

The girls team remained undefeated, beating West Essex, 133-70. The girls have won eight straight this season. The team will complete its league competition Saturday against the Shore Area squad while the boys will wind up the season against Raritan Valley.

Princeton will host the girls

SCHUSS ON DOWN

For the Fun Of It. If you notice someone making a fast flight out of the office at 5 p.m. this Friday, he or she is probably a member of the Princeton Ski Club.

The exodus this weekend is to Bromley, Vt., and the car pools will drive until about midnight to get there.

"I don't worry too much about form. I just go down the slope and enjoy it," Victor Auerbach of 2 Marcia Anne Drive, this year's president, takes his skiing as he finds it. So do most of the club's 160 members.

True, some are as skilled as Karre Karstad of Lawrenceville, who has been skiing since he was a five-year-old in Norway. Others put on ski boots for the first time last fall. The club had a tune-up session a few weeks ago at Sno-Bowl in North Jersey, just for beginners, but even the experienced skiers showed up.

Weather Reports. They're year 'round scanners of the weather reports. The club sets up ski jaunts for nearly every weekend from early January through April to such places as Mad River, Sugarbush, Gore Mountain near Lake George ("The T-bar is 100 yards from the door"), Stowe, Bromley and Whiteface Mountains. In April they throw a "final fling" party.

In the summer, they keep right on going. A water skiing excursion to Lake George expanded to canoe trips, clam bakes, sailing sloops on the Chesapeake and swimming parties. Then, it's October and time for the fall open house, ski film-and-lecture meetings, ski trips . . . and the cycle repeats itself.

"We have a bunch of people who like to be outdoors!" Mr. Auerbach says with gusto.

At their twice-a-month meetings at the Pine Brae Club, things start off with snow reports and comments on the last trip. Everybody but one die-hard, Dr. Stephen Bender, Princeton dentist, was fogged off by the "no snow" forecast for the Killington trip of early January. Even the trip leader, Leonard Godfrey of Copper Mine Road, didn't show.

"You all missed a very fine social weekend," Dr. Bender drawled at the next meeting. The Vermont Inn, where we were supposed to stay is a very nice place—and I was the only guest. Never took my ski off the car."

They've had better luck since.

Bromley & Stowe. The Bromley trip is called the club's "home cooking special." Janice Peterson of 202 Varsity Place is the trip leader.

Although the club usually hooks dormitory-style lodging at the various inns, this time they have reserved two houses at Valley Brook Farm in Gratton, where home "gourmet" meals will be provided by the skiers. "Bring your own bedding and a sleeping bag," went out the word to members.

"This one should be a real experience in co-existence, group therapy, etc."

On Washington's Birthday weekend, the dash will be towards Stowe with Robbie Mould of Princeton in charge of arrangements. Connie Moench of the Millstone Apartments heads the March 6 trip to the Bromley-Stratton area; Janet Oliver is in charge of the March 20 jaunt to Whiteface, and past president Brian Faughnan is leader of the April 3 trip back to Mad River-Sugarbush.

"About $40." Mr. Auerbach, who missed the Gore Mountain trip because RCA sent him to Alaska to track its most recent weather satellite, estimates that about half of the membership attend the meetings on a regular basis.

"Most of the members are young adults . . . mostly unmarried . . . we don't seem to attract the students. We try to avoid being a 'boy-meets-girl' club, but there have been some marriages in the Ski Club."

In the main, they come from the offices and laboratories around Princeton. Some are school teachers. In the beginning they rent equipment from The Ski on Nassau Street, or in Trenton.

"At the ski areas, they may be out of equipment by the time you get there," a member says. "Or you have to spend an hour or so to get fitted!" moans another.

Jim Northrop, club treasurer, believes that the main thing for beginners is "to take a lesson or two at first. You learn how to stop and how to fall properly. These are very important for a beginner."

The club heads for ski areas with intermediate and novice slopes . . . and ski schools. A trip costs "about $40 to $50," they figure.

Membership chairman Janet Oliver, who works at IDA, is one of the original eight who formed the club about six years ago. Not so active now is another charter member, realtor Bryce Thompson. "He turns up now and then," Miss Oliver says. "Princeton changes so much. People move back and forth. The most important function of the club is getting people started in skiing."

Mr. Auerbach adds, "We're a congenial, informal group. We make an effort to welcome

Public Service continually looks for new and better ways to provide electric service. Only in this way can we continue to keep your electric rates down despite the continuing increase in the cost of living.
A good example of specialized equipment that gets things done in a hurry is our earth borer which quickly and efficiently digs holes for setting up utility poles. Working on the same principle as a drill, this huge bore digs holes that are precisely the right size for standard poles.
Public Service's investment in millions of dollars worth of such specialized equipment helps keep your electric service economical and dependable.

HOCKEY TEAM BEATEN, 9-1

For 14th Loss This Year. A Clarkson hockey team that dominated action throughout the evening handed Princeton its 14th loss of the season Tuesday in Baker Rink. It was a 9 to 1 final.

The visitors started slowly, leading 2-0 at the end of the first period. Shortly after they scored their third goal, Steve Cook of the Tigers fed Mike Spence, who hit the Clarkson nets from 10 feet out to make it 3-1.

The Potsdam skaters added two more before the second period ended and then broke the game wide open with four picture goals in the last round. They are now 11-3 against the top teams in the east.

LESLEY BUSH TO APPEAR

At Dartmouth Carnival. Lesley Bush, Princeton's 17-year-old Olympic diving champion, will give a diving exhibition Saturday during Dartmouth's Winter Carnival in Hanover, N. H. She will perform from a 30-foot tower, following the Dartmouth - Army swimming meet.

Lesley is familiar with Dartmouth's new pool and its two platforms and three springboards. She won the Eastern Regional AAU championship on the one-meter board there last March.

Lesley has just returned from an exhibition tour to Peru with other U. S. swimming and diving stars. Last month, she received the Kent Award as New Jersey's Athlete of 1964.

LEADERS GAIN

In YMCA Industrial League. The Princeton YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League virtually resolved itself into a three-team race last week when all three leaders won.

Educational Testing Service, American Cyanamid and Western Electric all triumphed, although ETS had a harrowing evening before it finally managed to outlast Post Office, 49-48. As a result, ETS maintained its first-place position with a 9-2 mark but it still was deadlocked with Cyanamid and Western, the important last column, all having lost twice.

At the West Windsor gymnasium last Thursday, Western Electric took the measure of Hospital, 73-54, despite Sam Lowe's 31 points for the losers. Cyanamid swamped winless RCA, 70-47.

Inability to hit from the foul line cost Post Office an opportunity to upset ETS. Paul Harmon paced the victors with 20 points. In another contest, Ray Tamasi poured in 31 points to lead Opinion Research Corporation to an easy 72-37 decision over Astro.

INDOOR MEET FRIDAY

At Lawrenceville School. The second annual indoor track meet for Princeton area high school students will be held Friday at the Lavino Field House, Lawrenceville School. Co-sponsors of the meet are the Lawrence Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Trenton Times.

Participants will come from Princeton High School, Hightstown, Trenton, Ewing, Hamilton, Cathedral, Notre Dame, Junior High School No. 1 and Bordentown Military Institute. Team and individual trophies will be presented by former pole vault champion Don Bragg, Pete Morgan, Princeton University track coach, and Bill Faherty, Trenton recreation director.

The meet, sanctioned by the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association will start at 7 p.m. Tickets-$1 for adults, 50 cents for children—may be obtained from any Lawrence Jaycee, The Ski, 20 Nassau Street or from Capital Sporting Goods in Trenton.

HUN WINS PAIR

Strengthens Position. By winning two key contests last week, including a victory over previously unbeaten George School, the Hun School strengthened its position in the Penn-Jersey League.

Hun is currently 7-2 in league play while Bryn Athyn is a game behind at 5-2. George School still clings to the top spot with a 4-1 record. Hun coach Bob Simpson points out, however, that George and Bryn Athyn still have two games against each other and adds, "Some very interesting things may happen before the season ends."

Hun is two games away from finishing its season, having played more games to date than anyone else. It will travel to Perkiomen Saturday afternoon for a 2:30 contest and to on the road again for its finale Wednesday at Moorestown. Both schools have fallen earlier in the season to the Red and Black.

At New Hope Saturday, the home team Hornets discovered that charity does indeed begin at home. Hun converted 23 charity tosses, 15 by Mike Miller alone, to defeat the Spartans, 69-62. The 23 free throws may have been a Hun record in that department, said Simpson.

Miller drew most of those fouls in the process of pulling down 26 rebounds. Pete Braveman, a freshman filling in for the sidelined Mike Leon, scored seven points in his varsity debut—all from the free throw line. Veteran Scott Page chipped in with 21.

Hun in Overtime. Last Wednesday, Hun won the game it had to by the narrowest of margins. The game was forced into overtime when George's Tom Lane, fouled at the buzzer, missed the free throw which would have given his team a 60 to 59 victory. As it was, Hun outscored the visitors, 4-1, in overtime for a 63-61 triumph.

"We were lucky to get out of that one," said Simpson. "Miller fouled out in the fourth period and we were five points behind but we stayed in there."

Howard Levine, a sophomore playing in his second game, got the basket that sent the game into overtime. Hun proceeded to win this one from the foul line, too, as Scott Page and Scott Anderson both made good on a pair of free throws. Page paced Hun with 20 points, followed by Leon with 18 and Miller, 16.

MUSIC
In Princeton

WELCOME HOME

Clevelanders Coming. When the Cleveland Orchestra comes to Princeton on Tuesday at 8:30, it will be making its 25th appearance on the McCarter stage. Standing room only is the order of the evening, and SRO tickets may be purchased at 7:30 at the McCarter box-office.

The Clevelanders first came to Princeton in 1935. The orchestra is now in its 46th season, its 18th under the baton of George Szell, and there are New York critics who regard the Cleveland orchestra under Szell as the finest orchestra in existence today.

The Cleveland orchestra travels from coast to coast in the United States, and has made three tours of Europe. In 1962, the orchestra was invited to appear in the inaugural festivities for the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, the only non-Eastern Seaboard orchestra to be so honored.

For its Princeton concert, the orchestra will play Haydn's Symphony No. 31 in D Major ("Hornsignal"); four pieces for orchestra by Henri Dutilleux and Beethoven's Symphony No. 6 in F Major, Opus 68 ("Pastoral.")

BAND MUSIC HEARD

From Renaissance Period. On Monday night in McCarter, Series 11 concert-goers were treated to an evening of Renaissance Band music. The Pro Musicis Renaissance Band of New York was conducted by Noah Greenberg, its musical director.

During the previous two concert seasons, this reviewer has heard Mr. Greenberg's ensembles in a variety of magnificient music and looked forward to its return engagement as part of Series II this year. Though he music offered this evening was entertaining, its inspiration was somewhat limited when compared to the great Renaissance vocal literature presented earlier this season by the Deller Consort.

The Renaissance Band possesses an assemblage of recorders in all ranges, cornets, sackbuts, shawms, percussion, violas, lutes, harps and keyboard instruments such as the harpsichord and the portative organ. The concert presented included music by Practorius, William Lawes, Frescobaldi, Orlando Di Lasso, Obrecht, Isaac, De Prez, Gabrielli and many lesser known figures of a period comprising roughly two hundred years between 1440 to 1640

The musical settings ranged from full bodied instrumental music consisting of Trios, Duets and harmsichord solos. As was the custom of the day, the band music was divided into basically two events, the "loud" and the "soft", with the cornets, shawms, and sackbuts (trombones) representing the former, with the recorders and viola da gamba disposing the latter.

The list of highly-competent performers on these instruments is too long to give special mention to each one but certainly the musicianship of LaNoue Davenport on recorders, Krumhorns and Cornet, again demonstrated this man's mastery of his art. Mary Ann Davidoff gave a solid performance on the viola da gamba which is often seen but not heard in concerts of this idiom.

If the music lacked the emotional qualities with respect to depth of musical feeling featured in much Renaissance musical literature, it reflected the same spirit and charm that bands of perhaps another day offered. The music for the most part was light, and occasionally contained intricate rhythmic complexities, but was harmonically less chromatic and far less adventurous than that expressed in the Madrigal, Canzona and the Ricercare of the same period

—Arno Safran

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

For Rubinstein. Compositions by Schubert, Brahms, Ravel and Chopin will be offered by Artur Rubinstein for his first Princeton recital. The pianist will play in Dillon Gymnasium on Tuesday, February 23, at 8:30.

Mr. Rubinstein will open with Schubert's Grand Sonata No. 3 in B Flat Major (the "Opus Posthumous"). Following the Schubert, he will play three compositions by Brahms the Rhapsody in G Minor, Opus 79; the Capriccio, Opus 76 and the Rhapsody in E Flat Major, Opus 119.

Ravel's "Valses Nobles et Sentimentales" will open the second half of the recital and Mr. Rubinstein will conclude with a Chopin group.

End stand tickets are the only ones that remain. They may be purchased at the McCarter Theatre box-office.

TO PLAY ORGAN

At Seminary. Frederick Swann, organist at Riverside Church, New York, will give an organ recital in Miller Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary Tuesday at 7:45.

Smoke Gets in Your Eyes

Or, "Where there's smoke, there's fine."

The burning of tree trimmings, scrap lumber and cardboard at the Borough dump has cost the Princeton Sewer Operating Committee $25.

The State Department of Health levied the fine against the Sewer Operating Committee for violating both the air pollution control code and a "cease-and-desist" order from the state health department.

In September, 1963, Dr. Reece F. Kandle, state commissioner of health, told the Committee to stop burning refuse out in the open, in violation of the code. Last December, when investigators cited the Committee again for open burning, Dr. Kandle said he would prosecute unless Princeton complied with his order. The Sewer Operating Committee paid the fine rather than face court action.

Mr. Swann will play on the new Isabelle McClure Pellier organ, a gift of the First Presbyterian Church, Fort Wayne, Indiana. The $70,000 instrument was installed last summer and dedicated in December.

A prodigy who gave his first public organ recital at the age of eight, Mr. Swann was appointed to his first church job when he was only 10. He has been with Riverside Church since 1958, and plays for the daily services at the Interchurch Center as well as for regular worship services at Riverside.

For the Seminary audience, he will play compositions by Vendelin Kohn, John Stanley, Francois Couperin le Grand, Johann Sebastian Bach, Olivier Messiaen, Ernst Pepping, Jehan Alain, Virginie Bianchini and Maurice Duruflé.

PIANIST TO PLAY

Graduate Student in Recital. Compositions from the classic, romantic and contemporary repertory will be performed by Victor Rosenbaum, pianist, in a free public recital to be given Wednesday, February 17, at 7:30 in Wilcox Hall on campus.

Mr. Rosenbaum will play the Mozart Sonata in B-Flat Major, 570; the Beethoven's Sonata in A-Flat Major, No. 31, Opus 110; Webern's Variations for Piano, Opus 27 and Brahams' Four Pieces, Opus 119.

The pianist is a graduate student in the music department, Princeton University.

WALDENSIAN TO SPEAK

At Aid Society Session. The Rev. Dr. Ermano Rostan, moderator of the Waldensian Church, oldest extant Protestant group in the world, will address the Princeton branch of the Waldensian Aid Society at 3 p.m. Friday, February 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Webster, 25 Boudinot Street.

The Princeton unit was formed in 1916. It traditionally includes members of the various Princeton churches as directors and officers. Active leaders in the past have included Mrs. Henry N. Russell of Trinity Church and the late Dr. Charles R. Erdman, longtime pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

The Waldensian Church advocated church reform some 200 years before Martin Luther. It grew from the work of a layman, Peter Waldo of Lyons, France, who preached the right of individuals to read and interpret the Bible for themselves. In 1184, he and his estimated 8,000 followers were excommunicated by the Church. More than 400 years of persecution followed.

Today's Waldensians, descendents of groups which found refuge in the Italian and Swiss Alps, number some 35,000 of Italy's 100,000 Protestants. Their churches, schools and orphanages spread throughout Italy, including Sicily and Rome. Parishioners, for the most part very poor, contribute 85% to 90% of the church's support. The remaining funds come from friends and sympathizers in England, Scotland, Switzerland, France, West Germany and the United States.

All who are interested in the Waldensian Church are invited to hear and meet Dr. Rostan.

DANCERS TO PERFORM

At Jewish Center. Young people in training for life on an Israel kibbutz will give a program of songs and dances at 8:30 p.m. next Wednesday, February 17, before the combined Jewish women's organizations at the Jewish Center.

They are volunteers from the Hechalutz Farm Shomria, Hightstown, the only farm of its kind in this country.

Hostesses will be Mrs. John Steinberg, Mrs. Frank Lewin, Mrs. Arthur Garmen and Mrs. William Besser. The sponsors are Hadassah, B'Nai Brith and the Women's Division.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

At Witherspoon Church. Mrs. Gertrude Buggs will be installed as president of the Women's Association at the 11 a.m. service this Sunday in Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. She succeeds Mrs. Floyd Campbell.

Other new officers to be installed are Miss Fay Dickerson, first vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, second vice-president; Mrs. David Kay, secretary; Mrs. Leona Stewart, treasurer.

Also Mrs. Leon Allison, world service, and Miss Clarice Prettow, fellowship.

TO HEAR DR. WILLIAMS

At Methodist Church. The University of Life lecturer this Sunday at Princeton Methodist Church will be the Rev. Dr. Colin Williams, head of the department of evangelism of the National Council of Churches. He will speak at 7 p.m. on "The Holy People in Secular Society."

Dr. Williams, an Australian, is also serving as chairman of evangelism studies for the World Council of Churches. A graduate of Drew University, which also awarded his doctorate, he was visiting professor of theology at Garret Seminary for four years before returning to Australia. He became professor of theology at Queens College. His publications include "John Wesley's Theology Today", two books on the missionary structure of the congregation and a number of articles.

He will address the adult class at 9:45 a.m. the church, and will talk informally with Princeton University students and faculty at 4 p.m. in Murray-Dodge Hall. Supper will be served at the church at 6 p.m. for members, students and guests.

The arrangements committee for the University of Life series includes the Rev. Richard H. Parkins, Wesley Foundation chaplain; Lewis Bain, Hartwell Calcote and Walter Williams, all of the church's official board. The series marks the 20th anniversary of the Wesley Foundation at Princeton University.

TO PRESENT PLANS

For Friends' Building. Plans for a proposed addition to the Friends' First Day School building on Quaker Road will be presented and discussed at an open meeting to be held Wednesday, February 17, at 8:15 at the school. The proposed new Wing has been designed by Henry A. Jandl.

The curriculum of the school will also be outlined and inquiries will be answered. Parents of children now attending the school, and others who are interested, are invited to attend.

QUAKERS PLAN ADDITION TO SCHOOL: A new wing, (left) to be constructed at an angle to the existing L-shaped structure, has been proposed for the Friends' First Day School building, Quaker Road. Plans, drawn by Henry A. Jandl, Princeton architect, will be presented and explained at an open meeting Wednesday, February 17.

INSTALLATION SET

At Hopewell Church. The Rev. Curtis L. Hoffman will install officers this Sunday at Calvary Baptist Church, Hopewell. New trustees are Elston Hunt, Charles Conard, Louis DeSciatano and Alvin Cranston. A. Scott Dansberry III is church school superintendent, and Harold Blackwell, church clerk.

Also to take office are: Miss Rona Weaver, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Bogia, financial secretary; Mrs. Harry McCandless, assistant financial secretary; Shirley Cvecich, Carole Thompson and Doris Wort, board of Christian Education; Mrs. J. C. Higgins and Mrs. A. W. Merrell, Baptist Home; Mrs. Lloyd Drake and Mrs. J. D. Guinness, auditing.

Mss Mildred Rathousky, assistant church clerk; James Cvecich, head usher; Richard VanLiew, assistant head usher; Mrs. James Cvecich, assistant church school superintendent; Mrs. Richard Wyckoff, United for Service; Miss Betsy Drake, church school secretary, and Miss Charlene Childs, assistant.

Named to the Hopewell Council of Churches are Mrs. John Cromwell and Lloyd Drake. Representatives to the Council of Churches of Greater Trenton are Marvin Vandewater and Scott Dansberry Jr.

FUND DRIVE OPENED

For Lutheran Church. Members of the fledgling Lutheran Church of the Abiding Presence have begun a fund campaign for a church building. Frederick Harris is general chairman.

The congregation now holds 10:45 a.m. Sunday services in the Lanning School, Pennington Road, Ewing Township. Plans call for the construction of a sanctuary on Route 89 north of Trenton within the next three years.

CLOWES ELECTED

By Lawrenceville Church. Charles F. Clowes has been named president of the trustees of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. He succeeds Stephen C. Conger. Paul Powell will serve as vice-president, replacing E. Parker Striffler.

New members of the session are Donald Barringer, Herbert Kale, Raymond Updike.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

A Navy friend told s bout the Arctic Tern (Sea Swallow) which makes the flight of 11,000 miles from the Arctic to the Antarctic, and then back again, every year! When they arrive in the Antarctic the cycle of long daylight has started down there, which suggests that they seldom know darkness at all, for they return again to the Arctic when night starts to fall in the Antarctic. Our friend told of another species of Tern which congregated on a remote Navy airstrip, where they became a menace to planes landing and taking off. The Navy detailed some men whose job was to throw stones at the birds to clear the airstrip for incoming and outgoing planes. He said their motto was, "We will leave no tero unstoned!" Well, we leave no stone unturned to give you terrific values, economy and service! Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206 opp. Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

BULLETIN NOTES

Jersey City Journey. The revival at a city church will be studied this Sunday by families from Calvary Baptist Church, where the vital the North Baptist Church in Jersey City. North Baptist, which numbered some 700 members of English, German and Scotch descent at the turn of the century, dwindled to 60 members by the late 1950's.

The tide turned when the congregation called a bi-lingual pastor, the Rev. Leonard Ballesteros, to serve the now-Spanish neighborhood. The Calvary Baptist congregation leave Princeton at 3, and at the close of their visit will share a Spanish-American supper at the Jersey City church.

Talent & Tea. The community is invited to the annual Supper Tea of the senior choir of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church from 4 to 7 this Sunday. Mrs. Harriet Calloway is choir president. The musical program begins at 4:30 p.m.

Mission Speaker. Miss Mary Ellen Williams, recently returned from Burma, will give a talk this Sunday at the school of missions at Princeton Baptist Church, Penns Neck. A soup-and-sandwich supper begins at 5:30 p.m., and the session will close with vespers at 7.

Second Performance. "The Diary of Anne Frank," presented by the young people of the Jewish Center on Saturday to a capacity audience will be repeated at 8:15 this Saturday at the Center. The production is remarkable for a high school group. Carol Avins shows extraordinary insight into the role of Anne.

Race Relations. The Rev. Bryant George will conduct the 9:30 and 11 services this Sunday at First Presbyterian Church. Nationally observed as "Race Relations Sunday" in the Presbyterian Churches, a special "Fund for Freedom" offering will be taken. The Rev. M. George is associate chairman for administration, division of church strategy and development of the United Presbyterian board of national missions.

Holy Land. Miss Eloise Clever, a student at Princeton Seminary, will give an illustrated talk on her trip to the Holy Land at the 7 p.m. meeting Sunday of the Junior and Senior High Fellowships of Second Presbyterian Church.

University Chapel. The visiting preacher at Princeton University Chapel this Sunday is the Rev. John W. Meister of First Presbyterian Church, Fort Wayne, Ind.

GRACIOUS SPLIT LEVEL

An uncommon combination of words, we admit; but this sparkling five year old actually has the gracious air of a more traditional style. Perhaps it's the above average overall room size; perhaps it's because the levels are there for a reason (sloping ground); certainly the beautifully tasteful decor contributes enormously. In any case, the house is lovely, in gorgeous condition and, in the words of an admiring cohort, "one anyone could walk into and feel perfectly at home."

Vital statistics: entrance hall, living room with fireplace, dining room, study, second living or recreation room, kitchen with disposal and dishwasher, laundry with washing machine and dryer, 3 bedrooms (a potential, easily converted fourth on the upper level), 2½ baths, 2 car garage, 1¾ acres in the Western Section. Fairly priced at $56,000

◄ 9 Beautiful Models ►

from $20,990 FULL ACRE LOTS

Plan to spend the day at Strawberry Hill... there's so much to see! The most spectacular array of floorplans you've ever seen in one group of homes. Ranches, Colonial 2-stories, Split-levels and Bi-levels . . . 3, 4, even 5 bedroom models . . . with 1½, 2, 2½ or 3 full baths . . . 2-car garages . . . full basements, fireplaces, rec rooms, dens, laundry rooms. Some features you haven't even thought about. And all with the best workmanship and materials.

Every lot a full acre with a lovely view. Your own private estate — plenty of room for private pool, patio, playground, picnics for the kids. Each lot fully improved . . . paved streets, curbs, city sewers. Real country living with real modern conveniences.

CITY SEWERS

1 hour from New York, 45 minutes from Newark. And the new Route 287 puts you just minutes away from the Metuchen area. Free parking in new Brunswick for rail commuters, 10 minutes away. Minutes from shopping centers and exclusive stores in Princeton. Schools, houses of worship, recreational facilities conveniently located. New proposed state park will border on Hillsborough as will a large proposed reservoir lake — adding even more value and enjoyment to your home.

TAXES ARE LOW IN HILLSBOROUGH. You owe it to yourself and your family to check the values at Strawberry Hill.

IN THE BOROUGH . . . here is a nice, cheerful 2-story home of excellent construction, and well laid out indoors for comfortable family living. 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Separate dining room. This is a very well-maintained property with a backyard full of flowering fruit trees. June occupancy.

OLD COLONIAL . . . io a nearby township, with towering old shade trees, this charming old farm house has been restored and modernized. Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, big old farm kitchen with a huge fireplace where, in the old days, there was always a kettle on the crane and goodies baking over the coals. 5 bedrooms, 2½ baths. In the back, there is a nice terrace and a pretty garden.
$35,000

GEORGIAN COLONIAL . . . with 5 bedrooms, 3 baths and a powder room, which offers everything that is desirable in country living — including its location on beautiful Mercer Road. This fine residence has been meticulously maintained, and the perfection of its landscaping, and its decor, bespeak its quality to the perceptive homeseeker. Here is a residence that you'll enjoy; and you'll never quite get over the pleasure of your first visit as you approach the house under the spreading trees that line both sides of Princeton's most beautiful street.
Price on request.

BUILDING LOT . . . this is an opportunity not often available in Princeton Township — woods, 1½ acres, city water and sewer, ready to build on.
$19,500

BIG FAMILY? . . . here is a century-old Victorian home with 7 bedrooms, 2 living rooms, separate dining room with parquet floor and a good working kitchen. The master bedroom has a marble fireplace . . . All in all, a good, big old-fashioned home, centrally located in one of our most pleasant neighboring communities. Only one block from the elementary school.
$29,500

RIVERSIDE . . . here is a brand new Colonial home with 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room. Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, family room, a modern kitchen which really is a housekeeper's dream come true and a large (12 x 20) covered porch where you can enjoy the beautiful outdoors in Summer in peace and quiet. Located in one of our most inviting wooded areas, in a neighborhood of Colonial homes created by some of our most noted architects.
$49,500

SMALL ESTATE . . . green meadows and a brook, a low rambling white house, out in the wooded countryside, but only a few miles from the center of town . . . here is a place where the kids can have a pony and you can learn the joys of real country living. Large living room (24 x 24) with beamed ceiling and fireplace, powder room, dining room, modern kitchen and laundry, master bedroom with 2 dressing rooms and 2 baths, 3 other bedrooms, 2 baths. This is a place which will delight you at first sight, and which you will forever think of as home. $62,500

hardwood paneling
by Weyerhauser

Surround your family with the luxurious beauty of Weyerhaeuser Forestglo hardwood paneling. You'll enjoy the rich, natural color tones . . . the subtle variations of grain . . . the planked effect of V-grooving on the large work-saving panels—panels that install easily, even over plastered walls. And best of all, the beauty is protected with a special finish that will not chip, crack or yellow with age. To clean, just wipe with a damp cloth. Step in soon and plan your interior with any of nine distinctive hardwoods.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

All rights reserved. R. F. Dickinson & Co., Inc., New York.

MEANWHILE . . . BACK AT THE PALACE . . .

"'Palatial.' If it conjures up visions of a hundred or so sprawling rooms under one roof . . . then you're not going to find that in our new electric-living colony.

"But when it comes to perfection of living — and true ease — well back at the palace they'll sure be envying you." That's the way an Eastern developer proudly introduces houses that genuinely deserve the tag "modern."

"Until a few years ago, comfort of electric heating could not even be forseen. Now — unless you have experienced it, or have heard radiant raves from friends — you've got a nice surprise coming."

— Dial-Your-Temperature Applauded —

"You'll get what-you-want-when-you-want-it with the room-by-room thermostats found in most electric-living homes . . . and it will be accurate within half a degree even near the ceiling. In fact, going down a list of benefits of a complete electric home heating system sounds like bragging. It isn't. Just the facts, man, just the facts:"

- Decorating freedom. Electrical heating units are available in models from unobtrusive to invisible. There's nothing to interfere with interior decorating dreams. Electric radiators are slim, can even be recessed. Plaster complete covers ceiling installation.
- Finger-tip operation. You flip on a switch, choose the temperature you want for a given room, or workshop area, at a given time . . .and that's it.
- No costly maintainance, no complicated record-keeping. You're not going to have to keep track of when the fuel is going to run out . . . because it isn't. Your fuel is "stores" by the utility company, yet is as instantly available for heating purposes as it is for your reading lamp. Then, too, the very design of electrical heating units such as baseboards and ceiling cables precludes their wearing out, or getting out of order, since there are few or no moving parts. Many users of electric heat will never need to call the maintenance man.
- Investment continues to pay off. Initial installation costs for a complete electric home heating system are moderate, costs of the actual fuel are competitive. And a heating system which is "the coming thing, available now" rather than a method on its way to obsolescence adds actual cash value to the house. "So why envy the princess her tiara," chuckles the developer, "You've got it made while she's got chilblains."

QUESTION BOX

Q. Why do you keep saying in Electric Heat ads that you only pay for what you use? Isn't it true also of any other fuel?

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of bygone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

A. If you had read the rest of the ads you mention, not just the headlines, bet you'd have found out already. The electric heat industry (and that goes for the manufacturers, the utility companies, and those all important men who do the actual installation—the contractors) does its level best to inform! They have a product so good it's pretty hard to realize it's already been invented, on the market, and in use in nearly two million homes. You see you don't pay for any "travel time with heat lost enroute" when you have an electrical heating system. The heating elements are activated right in the room. A recent article stated that the best, the very best any other system can deliver to a room is 80% of the original heating. The rest is lost en route from the furnace in pipes and ducts. With electricity, the fuel is 100% useable.

Q. How do we get started if we want to convert to electrical heating?

A. Call an experienced contractor, an expert in electric heat installations. He can also give you an idea of what you should also consider in the way of proper insulation. The insulation may be a lesser factor if your home is very well built, or it may be advisable to upgrade. The upgrading, by the way, is another "double benefit" type expenditure, you might say. You assure your own comfort in a draft-free house with full utilization of fuel. . .and it figures that you're bound to get a better price if you ever want to sell. In fact, it's a wise move when you're reconverting to electrical heat to get your house up to Gold Medallion standards. Many people are not aware that a properly done reconstruction can make a house just as eligible for this award as a brand new structure.
Specific recommendations for number of circuits, types and locations of improved insulation, are among the things spelled out in booklets and leaflets. Your contractor has these. If you want to do some boning up first, your utility company has excellent free literature for you to browse through.
The Gold Medallion, by the way, isn't just a pretty status ornament you nail on the exterior or work into a door knocker. It's also a certificate . . . and it is recommended that the lucky home owners who get them, keep them filed right with the deed.

If You Are Planning To Build, Buy or Remodel Call Any One Of The Contractors Listed Below. He'll Give You All The Facts On Total Electric Home Heating.

CRITICS'
CHOICE

...THE NEW RENAULT R-8 1100!

Even the toughest automotive experts rate the new R-8 1100 a solid success. Listen to Car and Driver Magazine after they tested it:

"It has the ride and performance of a good American six cylinder compact."

"It overcomes nearly every traditional objection to economy cars we've ever heard. The comfort of the front seats is better than those of most cars—at any price . . . amazing ride and stability."

"The R-8 is fast, well constructed, good handling and has the best brakes in its class."

We started wondering just how many different cars the R-8 would beat to sixty. Drop in, we'll show you the list.

This new R-8 1100 is a tough, rugged, family economy car. COMPARE IT. TEST DRIVE IT TODAY.
